London Air-Mail Letter

Sir James Fraser Has 80th Birthday:
Army Cooks: Princess Royal On
The Riviera: Better Beer:
Sir Stafford's "Gripps"

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, January 10.
Had Sir Stafford Cripps held an office of State in the Socialist administration he would not, I think, have expressed himself as he did on Saturday.

His reference to Buckingham Palace as a hostile influence which a future Socialist Government would have to overcome would not be endorsed by a single one of those first Socialist administrators.

From first-hand knowledge I can state that every one of those men, mostly unversed in the conduct of State affairs, was inexpressibly grateful to the Sovereign for the encouragement and guidance he gave to them, severally and collectively.

Socialist's Royal Souvenir

That was true no less of Governmental affairs than of social etiquette.

One member of the Royal Household during the 1924 Socialist regime who arrived at Buckingham Palace to attend his Majesty at a garden party was somewhat unconventionally attired in a morning coat with a soft, grey felt hat. Finding that silk hats were the order of the day, he hastily removed the grey hat and concealed it beneath the bandstand.

The autographed photograph which the King gave him after that episode is to-day his most prized souvenir.

Mr. Henderson A Luxury

The likelihood of Sir Stafford Cripps becoming leader of the Socialist party is not imminent, even in the present disorganised state of the movement.

During the week-end one of its members remarked to me: "We have enough trouble with our own royal family without starting to throw bricks at Buckingham Palace."

The allusion was to Mr. Arthur Henderson, who is thought by a certain section of the party to be becoming a somewhat expensive luxury. As secretary of the Labour party Mr. Henderson has for long drawn a salary of £900 a year, while his son will, as publicity officer to the party, receive £500.

It has not escaped attention that so long as the Disarmament Conference remains in being Mr. Henderson also receives between £4,000 and £5,000 per annum, and this year has been awarded the £2,000 Nobel Peace Prize.

Thus when he secured his adoption for Clay Cross, murmurings grew to substantial proportions. The powerful Transport Workers Union, with only one M.P. in the House, had been spending £200 a year on the constituency, and their own candidate, Mr. Ben Smith, was ready to enter the field.

Death Duties

Some days ago I referred to the part which the millionaires have been taking in swelling the Chancellor's anticipated yield from death duties.

I now observe that another, and larger, section of the community has been doing its best for Mr. Chamberlain. The beer-drinkers have responded valiantly to the cry of "Better Beer."

According to the latest figures available, they drank two and a quarter million bulk and a quarter million standard barrels more in the six months from April to October last year than in the corresponding period of 1932.

The reason, one may be permitted to speculate, is mainly that beer is cheaper. The increase in specific gravity, which Mr. Chamberlain also recognised as essential, has not been great.

A Successful Experiment

From the Revenue's point of view the experiment has been altogether satisfactory. Mr. Chamberlain budgeted for a loss of four million millions this year by the reduction of the duty.

In fact, he had dropped only eight millions up to the end of October, and the trend of the figures for consumption suggests that March 31 will find him with a handsome margin on hand from this source alone.

THE PRINCESS ROYAL

A report that the Princess Royal is taking a villa on the Riviera is, I am assured, incorrect. The Princess will remain at Harewood House. She will not, for the present, be taking any part in public life.

The Duke of Connaught will be going South to his villa at Cap Ferrat a month hence. This means that he will be prolonging his stay in England by a fortnight beyond his date of departure last year.

THE SOLDIER'S COOK

Though 1,884 Army cooks minister to the needs of the 124,734 men of the British infantry and cavalry, they do not appear to be spoiling the broth.

According to the latest manual of military cooking and dietary, a copy of which has just reached me, cooking and housekeeping in the Army have now reached "such a high standard of proficiency that they are not comparable with the methods existing twenty years ago."

Here are two sample menus of military meals which give some idea of the improvement over a longer period still.

Each is a typical dinner, the first being one of four daily meals, the second one of two only:

1933.

Roast Meat.
Baked Potatoes and Green Vegetables.
Baked Currant Roll.
Sweet Sauce.
1815.
Beef Broth.
Boiled Beef.

The British soldier to-day may find that his plat du jour contains such piquant trimmings as Rangoon beans, bulle peas, ox heart, sea pie, or biscuit doughnuts.

OBSERVING THE RESULT

Rice, I notice, seems to form an important item in military dietary, perhaps in order to prepare the digestion of the young recruit for service in India.

The days when Wellington's cooks were supplied with two coppers per company are long past. Then boiling was necessarily the order of the cookhouse.

Possibly the most potent influence for the improvement of Army meals is the significant rule that the man who cooked the food must "observe at the dining-room table whether his efforts to provide a good meal have been successful, and note complaints for future guidance."

SIR JAMES FRAZER 80

Sir James Frazer, the scholar, anthropologist, and writer, who successfully fought against blindness, celebrated his eightieth birthday yesterday. During the last year or two he has undergone several operations on his eyes and made a wonderful recovery. This was so complete that he has been able to continue his task of producing a new work dealing with "Fear of the Dead in Native and Primitive Religion." To enable him to carry out this project the Court of the Drapers, Company last year made him a grant of £400 a year for three years so that he might provide himself with expert secretarial assistance.

Sir James has probably written more books on folklore and anthropology than any other living author. "The Golden Bough," first published in 1890, however, remains his greatest. It is a literary as well as a scientific classic. Lady Frazer has always been his collaborator in research, and when his failing eyesight prevented him from carrying on she spent many days and weeks reading to him.

Sir James is at present in Paris, where it is understood he is continuing treatment under an eye specialist.

GERMAN FILM CENSOR

Herr W. Krause
Appointed

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Berlin, Feb. 3.

The Post of Reich Film Censor has been created by the propaganda Minister, Goebbels, who has appointed the former film critic of the newspaper "Angelfeld," Willi Krause, to the new position. It will be Krause's task to act as advisor to the German film industry and to examine all manuscripts and scenarios in order to prevent production of films not in keeping with the spirit of the day. ## NEW WIRELESS SERVICE

Between London And Shanghai

London, Feb. 3.

Direct wireless service between London and Shanghai was opened to the public to-day. Routing instructions for this service will be via Imperial Wireless and rates the same as for cable routes.—British Wireless.

LONDON STOCK MARKET

Active Bidding For Gold Shares

The dollar to-day remained at approximately the same high level as it touched yesterday, the rate on sterling being round about 4.903. On Stock the Exchange interest remained centred in the gold mining section to the exclusion of other departments which remained quiet. Active bidding for many South African mine shares continued with further gains, although the gold quotation was to-day 1/3d. down at 138/3d. Much gold is flowing to the United States and liners leaving to-day are carrying large shipments.

CZECHOSLOVAKIAN ELECTIONS

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Prague, Feb. 3.

May 17, has been fixed as the date of the Presidential elections. President Masaryk's term of office expires on May 27. According to the Czechoslovak constitution the President of the Republic may not be elected for more than two successive terms but exception has been made expressly in the case of Masaryk who has held office since the Czechoslovak Republic came into existence in 1918, and it is generally anticipated that Masaryk will be 84 next March.—Transocean Kuo Min.

VICTORY FOR SCOTCH WHISKY

Decision Of German Supreme Court

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Leipzig, Feb. 3.

The Scotch whisky distillers gained a lawsuit against German "whisky" manufacturers which had been going on for some time. The German Supreme Court reversed the decision of the Berlin court, from which plaintiffs appealed and declared that German firms are not authorised to label bottles containing self-made liquor "original Scotch pure malt whisky" since the designation "whisky" may only be given to products imported from Great Britain.

TRAINING GALLOPS

Fast Work by Derby Griffins: Hem Stable Making A Claim

(BY "MORNING DEW")

Fast work by Derby griffins characterised the gallops, on Saturday morning. Prima Donna covered the full Derby distance in 3:21.4, King's Warden in 3:22, Spinaway in 3:24.2.

The appearance of New Star's name among those who finished well will begin to cause racing fans to inquire whether the Kong Bros' stable may not have a chance for the Derby. The gallops during the current week will probably supply an answer.

The candidates from the "Hem" stable were galloped at twelve noon, and there was quite a number of "fans" to watch their performances. Cladiator and Macaroni went out over a mile and a quarter and their times were as follows:—36.3, 1.11.3, 1.44.4, 2.16, 2.46.4. Lemberg also went out over a mile and a quarter, their times being 35.1, 1.09.1, 1.42.1, 2.13.2, 2.46.3.

Bayardo and Herod went over a mile, but their work was on the slow side the times being 40, 1.12.2, 1.43.4, 2.16.2.

Another fine piece of work was by Electric Star, who went over three quarters of a mile in 1.36, finishing hard held in 31.2.

Some fast work was seen in the subs class where The Carp took 2.15.2 for a mile and City View, 2.15.4. Both however, finished unimpressively. The Bodega, Kitsap and Classic Hall were others which galloped well.

Flumery covered a good mile in the Australian C class, taking 2 minutes over the journey. The last half mile took only 56.3 seconds.

BRIDGE HISTORY MADE IN 1933

Imposing Programme For Next Year

Blatantly, quarrelsomely, but definitely, 1933 has put Contract Bridge on the map of international sports, writes a correspondent. I shall touch as lightly as possible on the back-stage quarrels, the better to chronicle the things that matter. Matches between teams of different nationalities were, of course, not new; but how much did the public—or, for that matter, the rank and file of bridge players—know about them? When, however, Mr. Charles M. Schwab, the New York millionaire, presented a trophy for international competition, and those two dynamic personalities, Ely Culbertson and Gordon Selfridge, took it upon themselves to stage the contest, the whole world heard about it.

Bridge A Spectacle
A great electrical scoring machine came across the Atlantic, and by its means thousands of spectators were able to follow the bidding and the play. Contract Bridge had become a spectacle, like Wimbledon lawn tennis, and throughout the week of the match foreign journalists dashed the wire and expert descriptions to their countries by cable and telephone in a dozen and more languages.

The pity was that neither the contest nor the actual play was worthy of all this. Col. Brasley's team was neither representative nor organised, and the standard of bidding and play rarely reached first-rate level.

Nevertheless, the fact remains that for the first time all England was acutely aware that Englishmen had been soundly beaten at the bridge table by Americans. Although by no stretch of words could the event be described as truly international, that meant that public interest had been aroused, and that in future, if steps were not taken to organise a really representative team to play for England, there would be public opinion to deal with.

New National Organisation
Realisation of this has resulted in the formation of the National Bridge Association of Great Britain, whose main object is "to constitute an authoritative national organisation for the purpose of selecting representative teams."

There are thus two organisations now in the field—Mr. Manning Foster's Bridge League, which boycotts the Schwab Trophy, and the new-born association.

Endeavours to bring these two bodies together in some form of amalgamation have failed. One can only hope, then, that it will be found that there is room for both, and that their rivalry will be friendly. America has some three or four independent organisations, and many of the leading players belong to them all.

Two international trophies have now to be fought for every year—the Schwab Trophy and the International Bridge League Trophy. This year the latter was won by Austria, with the English team very low on the list. The 1934 tournament will therefore take place in Vienna. Thirteen nations are competing, including America, for the first time.

The 1934 Schwab Tournament. The position regarding the Schwab Trophy is not yet clear. It is possible that the Americans may waive their right to have the match played in the United States. In that case London will again be the venue. It is not yet known how many nations are competing, but it is certain that the French are entering a team.

Other events of importance during 1933 were the defeat of Capt. Lindsay Mundy's team of Direct System players by the Americans and the striking successes of provincial players in the Bridge League competitions. While the Gold Cup for teams of four was again won by a London team, led by Mr. R. Lederer, the pairs championships went to Eastbourne, represented by Mr. A. J. Horablow and Mr. S. R. Lewis, and to Chester, represented by Major Cyril Dewhurst and Mr. H. Freret. Mr. Lederer's colleagues were Mr. C. H. Collingwood, Mr. W. Rose, and Mr. N. Newmark.

The growing popularity of Competitive Bridge may be judged from the fact that 136 teams of four have entered for the 1934 Bridge League Gold Cup—88 more than 1933. This increase in entries has made it necessary to divide the country into five areas for playing of the eliminating rounds, with Scotland and Wales each counting as one area.

Trophy for Women's Teams
The National Bridge Association also has an imposing programme. Lord Tollenmache, the president, has presented a cup to be played for by teams of four in the British Isles. Lady Milne, who is a member of the Advisory Council, has given a trophy to be competed for by women's teams of four. As a result of these tournaments it is hoped the Association will be in a position to select a satisfactorily representative team to compete for the Schwab Trophy.

In the case of the women's contest, I am able to announce that, owing to many requests, the closing date has been extended Feb. 10. No fewer than 63 women's teams have already entered.

On Feb. 17 the eliminating contests for both the Tollenmache Cup and the Lady Milne Trophy will begin. When they have been concluded the finals will be played in London—almost certainly at Crookford's new home in Carlton House-terrace.

The organising of the women's matches is in the hands of Lady Milne and the Marquise de Dumas, who is also on the Advisory Council of the Association. They have received offers from thirty-eight women with large country or town houses at Manchester, Bristol, Glasgow, Leicester, Birmingham, and Liverpool to extend their hospitality for two nights to teams playing off matches in the elimination rounds.

The Harrogate Congress
A mammoth bridge congress has been organised by the "Bridge World" for March. It will be held in Harrogate. Over 1,000 players from all parts of the country are expected to attend, as compared with the 170 who sufficed to make the success of the Bezhill Congress in October, which was the first of its kind ever held in England.

The Bridge League is also planning a congress, and during next winter the Association proposes to stage a country championship for teams of four, a United Kingdom Paris Championship, and an inter-Dominion contest for teams of four.

With so heavy and varied a programme of match play in prospect, bridge players who aspire to international and championship honours have a busy time before them. It will be interesting to see the effect of all this on the standard of play. Will British teams bring home the international trophies? Will London Paris Championships, and an inter-Dominion contest for teams of four, be played?

FIVE WOMEN'S HUSBAND

Extraordinary Affair In Poland

Warsaw, Jan. 25.
In the town of Malewka to-day, five wives presented the old Bluebeard legend—when they made Isador Ruskewat, husband of them all, pay with his life for his extraordinarily polygamous nature.

Shortly after his latest marriage, the fifth Mrs. Ruskewat heard rumours that her husband had been a bridegroom four times previously. She confronted him with the accusation which he admitted was true. He obstinately refused, however, to divorce any of his four wives.

Mrs. Ruskewat bided her time, and after an intense, but secret investigation, succeeded in rounding up all four women. Eventually the five Mrs. Ruskewats became fast friends with one object in mind—revenge.

The current Mrs. Ruskewat induced her husband to accompany her to a party. Once there, the unsuspecting man was set upon by five furies—all wives. After a terrific tongue-lashing from each of them, the man was beaten, scratched and kicked to death.

APPOINTMENTS

Announcements In The Gazette

The name of Mrs. Ruth Gwendolyn Nash, M.B., B.S. (Sydney, N.S.W.), of 1 King's Terrace, Tak Shing Street, Kowloon, has been added to the Register of Medical Practitioners of the Colony.

His Excellency the Governor has been pleased to appoint Captain Douglas Walter Mortlock, 1st Battalion Straits Settlements Volunteer Force, to be a local Temporary Captain.

Captain Mortlock was formerly Acting Captain of "A" (Machine Gun) Company of the Singapore Volunteer Corps.

LOCH MONSTER FILMED

Cinema Company's Claim

Three Glasgow men, employees of Scottish Films Productions, claim to have filmed the Loch Ness monster, and their picture will be publicly exhibited in two Glasgow cinemas shortly.

They had spent a fortnight on the banks of Loch Ness and were just on the point of giving up when they noticed a commotion on the surface of the water. They immediately manned their three cameras and several shots of the monster were obtained. Owing to the distance at which it arose, however, it appears on the film as a dark object moving quickly across the water.

The object is not very clearly defined, but the camera men have provided a contrast by showing a film of a log floating on the surface of the water. They also prepared a model, which they have filmed, and they challenge comparison with what they describe as "the genuine article."

"Long, Thin Neck And Small Head"

A remarkable story was told to the writer by Mr. Goodbody, a well-known sportsman and the proprietor of the Invergarry House. Mr. Goodbody, who has travelled over the world and who for a time was chairman and now a member of the Ness Fishing District Board, had very grave doubts as to the presence of a monster in the Loch. Indeed, he frankly said:

"I put it down to a Press publicity stunt. I had often been on the Loch side and had never seen anything to warrant my believing in anything unusual being in the Loch, but now I can with certainty say that there is an extraordinary creature in the Loch—nothing like anything I have seen in my world-wide travels and quite different from any of the published accounts of the monster, as described by the various people who have already seen the creature in the Loch."

Yesterday afternoon my two daughters and I motored to about a mile east of Fort Augustus on the north side of the Loch with the view of trying to get a glimpse of it. Shortly after 12 o'clock to our surprise, we observed what we thought to be the fins of some large fish moving slowly in the water, going in a north-east direction towards Inverness and coming nearer to the north shore. We had strong field-glasses and, as the object came to within 400 or 500 yards of the north shore, we clearly observed that the fins were not fins, but humps. The object moved along for a distance and then turned, and as we got a clearer view of it we saw that it did not correspond with any of the descriptions of the monster which have already appeared in the Press.

As the object came nearer, we examined it very carefully through the powerful field-glasses. I counted no fewer than eight humps, and my daughter was positive that she counted nine humps. They changed from time to time. The humps would be about a foot out of the water and were very clearly seen. We saw the head for a brief period twice. The creature had a long, thin neck with a very small head, so small that I was terribly surprised. I did not see the tail; it was under the water, but there was a thrashing movement in the water when the object made a turning movement.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE

January 28th
His Excellency and Lady Peel, attended by Captain Walter were the guests at lunch of the Honourable Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Paterson at Fanling. They afterwards attended the Steeplechase Meeting of the Fanling Hunt and Race Club at Kwun-I.

January 30th
Mr. F. G. Gorton, Mr. J. Chancellor and Mr. Wigley lunched at Government House.

February 1st
His Excellency the Governor, attended by Captain Walter, witnessed the annual Cricket Match between local Oxford and Cambridge teams.

February 2nd
His Excellency the Governor exchanged official calls with Rear Admiral Miyama, Imperial Japanese Navy.

In the afternoon Lady Peel held a meeting of the Advisory Committee of the Cheero Club. In the evening Lady Peel, attended by Mr. Plicher, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Shields at the Annual dinner dance of the Royal Hong Kong Yacht Club.

February 3rd
His Excellency and Lady Peel, attended by Captain Walter and Mr. Plicher, were the guests of the Honourable Sir Thomas and Lady Southern at dinner.

A LOOK AROUND ELSTREE

England's Hollywood

Thousands of people write to British International Pictures every year asking permission to visit the studios. Nearly all are refused because visitors hamper work on the sets which runs into costs amounting sometimes to thousands of pounds in one day!
Then, too, there are things the public cannot be allowed to see.
Let us, however, make a short trip around the B.I.P. studios at Elstree which are not only the largest in this country, but are said by those who have visited Hollywood, to be more like the Californian studios than any others in England.

There are eight separate studios
all sound proofed to keep out noise
while talkies are being made.
These vary in size from 100 feet
by 75 feet, to 40 feet by 75 feet.
Then there is one large studio used for filming "outdoor scenes" in bad weather, and this is 100
high and 300 feet long.
Inside this one at the moment are a complete farmhouse with stables and pigsties attached. Stanley Lupino used this set in his film "You Made Me Love You," and for a whole week they had pigs, sheep, horses, cattle and poultry to impart natural colour-and odour! Then later they built a full sized circus in the same studio, right right by the farmhouse, and in came ten lions, five tigers, two elephants, dozens of horses and a few caravans, for the filming of "Red Wagon." The original red wagon still stands there, and now they are building a full size replica of a British destroyer for the film "Contraband" in which Greta Nissen stars with David Manners. Just a tiny corner nearby is occupied by a set representing the "gateway to hell." Barry Lupino and Wally Lupino had to pass through it and contrary to usual practice they are expected to stage a "comeback" with the resulting film. A tour of the sound-proofed studios reveals almost every kind of set imaginable; most being built with sufficient solidity and completeness to ensure realism. For the Marian Marsh picture "Love at Second Sight," a complete flat has been built. This consists of hallway, staircase, drawing room, dining room, bedroom and bathroom,
each of which is set in exact position so that if required the camera can "crack" the artists from room to room without once losing sight of them. In the same way a whole suite of ship's cabins has been put up in another of the sound proofed studios for the "interior scenes" of "Contraband."
Walk through the rest of the studios and you will find a huge mansion ball room also built for
"Love at Second Sight;" a country pub, complete with bottles and

LESSON SERMON

"Love" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which was read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 4th.
The Golden Text was: "Keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life" (Jude
1:21).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent his only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through him. And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us.
God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him" (1 John 4: 9, 10).
The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy:
"That God is a corporeal being, nobody can truly affirm. Not materially but spiritually we know him as divine Mind, as Life, Truth and Love. The Jewish tribal Jehovah was a man-projected God, liable to wrath, repentance, and human changeableness. The Christian Science God is universal, eternal, divine Love, which changeth not and causeth no evil, disease, nor death" (p. 140).

RACIAL PASSPORTS FOR ALL GERMANS

Men Warned To Make Sure
Fiancées are Aryans

Every family in Germany is to have its "racial passport."
Registration of racial descent, it was announced last night, will be made compulsory for all citizens, and not merely for the families of State and municipal employees as previously announced.
This measure, which will be introduced shortly in the shape of a special law, will enable the German authorities to establish at a moment's notice who are Jews and who are Aryans.
In the meantime the announcement urges the population to compile individual and family
data regarding their Aryan descent, and to preserve old photographs and pictures of their ancestors (states the Jewish Telegraphic Agency).
The young men of Germany, in particular, are warned that they should make certain that their fiancées are of pure Aryan descent, because "future marriages are of decisive importance for Germany's destiny."

SUGAR PROBLEM NEAR SOLUTION

Roosevelt Jars Industry Into Alignments

Washington, January 21.—Observers believe that President Franklin D. Roosevelt's attitude against political lawyers, many of whom have represented sugar refiners, has been an important factor in working towards a solution of the sugar problem.
They see this influence as jarring the industry into new alignments which vastly increase the chances of domestic growers benefitting from federal farm relief in connection with the plan to incorporate cane and beet sugar as a basic commodity under the AAA.
If that is accomplished, domestic sugar will be in a position to profit from the proceeds of processing taxes, which will be paid to growers reducing cane or beet acreage.

whiskey kegs. It might be just ready for Christmas, but while the atmosphere is "there," the "spirit" is absent. There is not even a drop of Contraband in those bottles!

A magistrate's court is being built in another studio for Will Hay's first British film, which
Thomas Bently will direct soon.
Outside on part of the ten acre
"exterior" ground, B.I.P. have standing a part of Cheddar Gorge;
an Austrian railway station; a country church; a Spanish market place; an Eastern bazaar; a bit of "no-man's land" looking like 1916; a French chateau, and what not. Truly this Elstree is a place of make-believe, for in the huge wardrobe there are enough different costumes, many fabulously valuable, to fit out the Chelsea Arts Ball at least ten times, and the parts of sets stored away and other "properties" if laid end on end, would decorate the roadside

AT THE QUEEN'S
Broadway To Hollywood

The current attraction at the Queen's, "Broadway To Hollywood" has much to recommend it, being a story of a cavalcade of fifty years of life on the stage and screen of a family named Hackett.

As vaudeville actors, the original Hacketts were a great success and they were headlining features everywhere. After a time however, their son became a leading actor, while the parents had to be satisfied with smaller roles. The old Hackett however, would not face the fact that he was getting old, and rather than work as a junior to his son, leaves for other engagements.

Meanwhile the young Hackett is married, but success goes to his head and he neglects his wife, a former actress who is terribly devoted to him. A quarrel following one of his drunken bouts leads the woman to commit suicide and the young man, stricken with grief, leaves the stage and goes to the War.

Meanwhile the old Hackett carries on in a small way, caring for their grandchild, who in time grows up into a leading cinema star. Success also gets into his head and he is well on the way to ruin, when Grandpa Hackett steps in and

"TERROR ABOARD"

Coming To The Queen's

To possess the woman he loves, the screen's most ruthless egomaniac savagely kills a whole boatload of passengers and crew in Paramount's thrilling "Terror Aboard," which will be shown from Wednesday at the Queen's Theatre featuring John Hamilton, Charlie Ruggles, Nell Hamilton, Shirley Grey, Verree Teasdale and Jack LaRue.

Past master in the art of murder, Hollywood yet evolves newer, more original and more mystifying methods of slaughter in this exciting drama of death on the high seas. The picture reaches its height of originality when the body of a beautiful woman is discovered in the ship's companion way and doctor swears she has been frozen to death—despite the facts that the time is mid-July, the temperature is at 90 degrees above, and ship is traversing tropical seas.

The suspense of the passengers aboard the ship, seeing their companions drop one by one before the onslaughts of the diabolical maniac whose identity is unknown, is conveyed to the audience. "Who will be next?" is the main question before the house and it is settled before your eyes.

Financial difficulties and prison confront Maximilian Krieg (John Hamilton), American millionaire, who is on the way to Sydney, Australia, aboard his yacht "Celeste" with a boatload of friends. With him is Lili Kingston (Shirley Grey), his fiancée, really in love, however, with James saves the young man. The ending is very unusual.

The rest of the programme is quite attractive, particularly a short one reel comedy called "Old Bull." The Overture consists of selections from "42nd Street."

"ACE OF ACES"
Next Change At King's

Richard Dix, the perennial favorite of movie-goers, will be seen at the King's Theatre on Wednesday in "Ace of Aces," his new starring production for RKO-Radio, which features Elizabeth Allan and Ralph Bellamy. "Ace of Aces" is said to provide Dix with his greatest screen characterization—that of a man who casts aside his natural scruples against killing his fellow man and becomes a ruthless war ace. With forty-two victories to his credit, he is acclaimed as the "Ace of Aces," a title that carries with it the inescapable doom that has overtaken all the other war aces.

At the peak of his fame, remorse for the death and destruction he has wrought overtakes him and he brings his career to a glorious and dramatic conclusion. A heart-throbbing love affair between the ace and the girl whose taunts of cowardice forced her lover "into the war, lends romantic interest to the film.

J. Walter Ruben directed "Ace of Aces" with a notable cast including Dix, Miss Allan, Ralph Bellamy, Theodore Newton, Bill Cagney, Frank Conroy and Art Jarrett. John Monk Saunders, author of "Wings" and "The Dawn Patrol," wrote the original story for "Ace of Aces."

Cowles (Nell Hamilton), an American aviator. Suddenly one by one, the murders begin, each more mysterious, more horrible and only Krieg, Cowles, Lili Kingston, and "Blackie," a steward, played by Charlie Ruggles are left alive on board. In a thrilling fighting climax, replete with the excitement, the story comes to a smash end.

GOLD DIGGERS
OF 1933
Now Showing At Alhambra

A new type of film drama. That is what has been created by Director Mervyn LeRoy in the Warner Bros. production of "Gold Diggers of 1933," which is showing at the newly opened Alhambra Theatre. This type of picture had its forerunner in "42nd Street" but "Gold Diggers" is said to entirely eclipse it in the sheer force of its drama, in comedy situations, its catchy song hits and the novelty and beauty of its gigantic and spectacular dance ensembles.

The most difficult problem that confronted Director LeRoy was the proper balance of music and drama so that each would be a distinct show in itself and yet blend together in such a way as to form an intrinsic part of an integral whole. He solved the difficulty by putting on the screen the entire theatrical production with its songs and dances and gigantic choruses, which the play could only hint at.

LeRoy has succeeded in knitting a musical comedy spectacle with the powerful drama of Avery Hopwood's play so closely that every number and every bit of action coordinates a show within a show but an essential part of it. It is musical drama on a scale as never before attempted.

The production carries an all star cast which includes Warren William, Joan Blondell, Aline MacMahon, Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell, Guy Kibbee, Ned Sparks and Ginger Rogers. Two hundred chorus girls are a part of the elaborate, mobile sets. The brilliant new dance and song conceptions were created and staged by the famous musical comedy producer, Busby Berkeley. The music and lyrics are by the famous team

TORCH SINGER
Clouette Colbert For
The Alhambra

Clouette Colbert, as the hard-hearted queen of the night clubs, will be seen in Paramount's "Torch Singer" commencing to-morrow at the Alhambra Theatre. In the cast are Ricardo Cortez, David Manners, Lyda Roberti and Baby Le Roy.

Ralph Rainger and Leo Robin have written a number of new songs which will be presented by Miss Colbert in this picture. They vary from a lullaby to the hottest of wailing "torch" tunes.

The story, adapted from Grace Perkins' "Mike," which ran in the Liberty Magazine, is Paramount's response to Miss Colbert's demand for stories of women who toy with the emotions of men.

The Paramount star plays the role of "Mimi Benton," once simply Sally Trent, now the toast of the night clubs, as dangerous as she is alluring. Now famous, she is trying to even the score with life which, more than once, has presented her with misfortunes. But the thrill of applause doesn't satisfy her longing for the child she bore and had to give up for adoption when the man she wanted to marry deserted her.

A nation-wide search, using all the resources that wealth has made available, fails. When the man, Mimi, once loved returns, learns of the birth of the child and begs forgiveness, Mimi spurns him.

THEFT OF FLOWER POTS

Two Chinese Sent to Gaol

Before Mr. Hamilton at the Central Magistracy on Saturday morning, two Chinese, Tso Fong and Hung Tin were charged with thefts of two pots of palms, which belonged to the Chinese Recreation Club at Causeway Bay. Evidence was given that on January 28, the two defendants stole two pots of palms from the above mentioned club, and hid them in some other place, but soon they were discovered by the police, and arrested. They were all convicted and the Magistrate imposed a sentence of four weeks' hard labour on each of the defendants.

HEAVY FINE IMPOSED

Illegal Possession of Raw Opium

A man named Loo Sal Lue and his wife Kwok Hee, appeared before Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday morning, charged with illegal possession of a large quantity of raw opium.

It was stated by the prosecuting Revenue Officer that the defendants were a couple who lived in No. 581, Kwangtung Road, 2nd floor, Yau-mat, and during the raids, a large quantity of raw opium altogether over thirty cels was found hidden in different parts of the defendants' house.

After hearing the evidence, His Worship imposed a heavy fine of $900 or four months' hard labour on the first defendant and discharged the woman with a caution.

The quantity of raw opium was ordered to be confiscated.

SLY BROTHELS

Keepers Fined and Sent to Gaol

Resulting from Police raids on Friday night, two Chinese, Moo Chun and Wong Lan appeared before Mr. Schofield on Saturday morning on charges of keeping sly brothels at No. 235, Shaukwan Road and Wing Fung Street, Wanchai.

Both defendants at first pleaded not guilty, but after all the evidence had been produced by the prosecuting officer against them, they pleaded guilty to their charges.

The Magistrate imposed a fine of $100 or two months' hard labour on the first defendant and another of $150 or three months on the second.

MORE HAND-BAG SNATCHING

Chinese Girl Attacked in Kowloon

The snatching of a hand-bag which contained a sum totalling about $185 was reported to the Police by a young Chinese girl on Saturday evening.

According to the report, it appears that while complainant was alone walking near the Victoria Terrace of the Waterloo Road Mongkok with a hand-bag, she was suddenly attacked by an intruder who snatched away her bag from behind and fled.

The contents of the bag consisted of silver and some Macao bank-notes, totalling about $185.

The incident is now engaging the attention of the Police.

SNATCHER GETS SIX WEEK

Incident in Queen's Road Central

Sentence of six weeks' hard labour was passed by Mr. Balfour at the Central Magistracy on Saturday, on an unemployed Chinese for attempted theft of a handbag belonging to Miss Lytleton of Knutsford Hotel, Kowloon.

It was stated that as Miss Lytleton left a shop in Queen's Road Central, near the Central Market, she felt a tug under her arm and found that her handbag had disappeared.

Turning round she saw the accused, with her handbag in his possession, being held by Mr. Lee Kee, of the Nobility Theatre, who had witnessed the theft.

HOUSE COOLIE CHARGED

Attempts to Bribe Police Officer

Before Mr. Balfour at Central Magistracy on Saturday morning, Lau Kim, a house coolie employed by Mr. J. Farrell of 6 Kennedy Road, was charged with stealing one tin of "Brasso", the property of his master, and offering a $5 note to Lance-Sergeant Roger, who arrested him, as a bribe.

It was stated that when accused was arrested at Kennedy Road, on Friday, the tin of Brasso polish was found in his basket. He later pulled out a $5 note, and said to

Lance-Sergeant Roger, in Chinese, "This is for tea-money."

Mr. Farrell, in evidence, said that defendant had been in his employ for the last three months, and that the "Brasso" was still being used in the house.

Accused was bound over to a sum of $25 on the first charge and on the second was fined $14, in default three weeks' imprisonment.

IMPERSONATING AN OFFICIAL

Serious Charge Against Chinese

Henry K. Yu, described as an unemployed Chinese was brought before Mr. S. F. Balfour at Central Magistracy on Saturday morning on a serious charge of having represented himself to be an Inspector of the Secretariat for Chinese Affairs.

He was also charged with obtaining $10 from one Lau Ting, $3 from Chan Chuen Ming, an unemployed Chinese, and $125 from another unemployed Chinese named Li Wah by displaying a badge of the St. John's Ambulance Brigade and by offering them positions as Anti-Mul Tsal Inspectors.

After evidence had been given by Lau Tung, one of the complainants, the hearing was adjourned.

CHINESE CRACKER SHOP

Explosion Kills Eight People

Latest information from Chinese sources state that a few days ago a disastrous explosion, which resulted in the death of two shop-folks and six pedestrians occurred in Messrs. Chan Chun Kee, a Chinese cracker-shop, in Sha Chak Street of the Pakhoi Market, Pakhoi.

The explosion was considered to be a disastrous one, for during the last month, a large quantity of gun-powder had been stocked in the shop, for the preparation of making new fire-crackers for the Chinese Year.

During the explosion, the whole building collapsed, causing the death of two shop-folks and six passers-by and injury to many others.

The near-by houses were also affected by the severe explosion, but fortunately no outbreak of fire occurred.

It is reported that the total loss was a few thousand dollars.

BRITISH FIRM IN GERMANY

Prison For Currency Offence

A London firm of cosmetic manufacturers described as the "D.D.D. Company" was concerned in a case before the Berlin court.

Their German agent, a pharmacist, was sent to prison for six months and fined 50,000 marks ($2,500 at par) for paying a debt on their behalf without complying with the strict foreign exchange regulations.

It was stated that the firm had since 1931 been buying machinery and other equipment here for a German branch factory. They had thus accumulated a debt inside Germany of 80,000 marks ($4,000).

This debt their agent paid for them out of German trading profits, whereas the law requires that the remittance should have been made from London. The purely technical nature of the offence is emphasised by the fact that the agent had already been permitted to transfer trading profits to England.

All that he had done was to short circuit the cumbersome regulations and save himself the trouble of transmitting money to London and then receiving it back again to pay German debts.

The court admitted that Germany's economic position had been in no way injured by this transaction, but declared that the State must protect itself against such "uncontrolled payments within the country on behalf of a foreign company."

U.S. AIR STRENGTH OF 1,000 PLANES

Naval Appropriation

Rear-Admiral King announced to-day that the U.S. naval aviation strength will be brought to the full quota of 1,000 planes by means of the $1,200,000 appropriation included in the 1935 Budget. This estimate is slightly below that for the current year.

In the last naval report the strength of the air arm was given as 929 machines. About 350 of these were classified as obsolete—Exchange.

RACE TRAFFIC

LOCAL WEDDING

Suffiad-Abdul-Curreen

A wedding of much interest to the local Indian community was solemnised on Saturday night when Miss Fatima Abdul-Curreen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Solomon R. Abdul-Curreen became the bride of Mr. A. S. (Toots) Suffiad, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Suffiad.

The ceremony was conducted according to Muslim rites by the Mufti of the Hong Kong Mosque, and a large number of friends were present at the reception held subsequently at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Suffiad at Bowle Building when Mr. W. N. Thomas Tam, in a few well-chosen words proposed the toast of the bride and bridegroom.

MR. R. A. INGLE ENGAGED

Somerset Cricket Captain

The engagement of Mr. R. A. Ingle, the Somerset amateur cricketer, is announced. He is to marry Miss Pansy N. Peters, youngest daughter, of Conston Lodge, near Bristol.

Mr. Ingle succeeded Mr. J. C. White as captain of Somerset in 1932, having made his first appearance for the county in 1923. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Ingle, live at Hillylands, Oakhill, near Bath.

So Obvious

A schoolmaster was explaining the complexities of modern life to his class. He pointed out how things are arranged for us—how a small mishap may bring all sorts of disagreeable consequences.

"For instance," he said, "you go to the scullery in the morning one of these cold days, turn on the tap, and find the water has ceased to flow. Why?"

He paused for an answer, but none came.

"Very well," he went on, "I will make myself a little clearer. The tap is in good working order; it turns perfectly, yet there is no water. What has happened?"

A small boy put up his hand. "The bloke ain't paid the water rate, guv'nor," he said.

"THE IMPORTANCE OF BEING EARNEST"

GOOD PRODUCTION AT THE UNIVERSITY

Forty years have elapsed since "The Importance of Being Earnest" was first produced on the London stage, and the claims put forward that it was the triumph of Wilde's career as a playwright. It has been resurrected and professionally produced in England at least six times since that period. It is revived year after year in every country, and has been translated into more languages than one realises are in use in the world. Withal it still lives and is as fresh as ever.

On Saturday evening at the University production of this play I questioned myself as to the reason of its being evergreen. For really "The Importance of Being Earnest" is a diversion rather than a play with improbabilities heaped sky-high throughout the entire action and creating an atmosphere which is as artificial as in "Twelfth Night" or "The Comedy of Errors." All the characters are quite soulless puppets. And yet, once the initial absurdity has been accepted, the play is charming and even fascinating. It may be true, as is usually said, that of the four comedies Wilde wrote this one is the best, but I cannot think of any other play lending itself more openly to failure unless well produced and acted. Therefore that it was thoroughly enjoyed and acclaimed a huge success by the audience on Saturday evening is a further tribute to the Arts Association of the University.

THE PRODUCTION

First, the production, the most important thing in any stage creation. Whilst not flawless it was extremely good and definitely better than anything the University has done in recent years. To Mr. R. R. Campbell and Mr. Reginald Woolley must be awarded the credit, for whilst the former was actually the producer it was obvious that his heavy duties had been made much lighter by the splendid stage and dress design of Mr. Woolley. Jointly they decided on a Black and White effect, a "motif" which in recent years has found favour with professional producers particularly in Germany. It was a most ambitious attempt and, in the opinion of the writer, it only failed to be really excellent owing to the fact that the "motif" was carried a little too far. Something should have been introduced to tone down the design and create a contrast in the different scenes. Stage design in the Black and White medium can only be really effective in the larger theatres where audiences are not in such close proximity to the stage, and Mr. Woolley's good work was therefore much more effective from the gallery at the back of the hall than it was from the first few rows of the "stalls."

The acting honours of the piece also fell to Mr. Campbell and Mr. Woolley, for, having the most important "roles," all the work of keeping the play going and bringing it to its successful climax fell upon their shoulders. Both players were excellent. Mr. Campbell sustaining the part of John Worthing (alias Ernest) in a manner reminiscent of George Grossmith at his best. Or was it that Mr. Campbell, bearing a resemblance to this actor, coupled with the sporting of a monocle, brought about uncannily the effect which helped tremendously in his portrayal of the character. His acting throughout was above the average amateur standard and probably more will be seen of Mr. Campbell on the local stage in the near future.

"Algernon Moncrieff" is perhaps the most difficult part in the play, and Reginald Woolley brought to the stage a "Moncrieff" exactly as Wilde must have visualised him. Mr. Woolley really lived the part of the clever, quite nasty, bored dilettante of the "naughty nineties" and the ovation which he received at the final curtain bore witness to the excellent qualities of his performance. Next in order of merit was Yvonne Langley's "Lady Bracknell," typical Wilde character, and a character which if not played with careful study falls to be convincing. Miss Langley's performance was very good and showed promise of what this young lady might do in future productions. Josephine Wong, Katherine Lai, and Law May Hing played the other female "roles"; one and all giving creditable interpretations. Three minor male parts were in the capable hands of Walter Citrin, Shuen Po Yuen and Law Chin Tang.

On the whole "The Importance of Being Earnest" by the University players was a very creditable production, and it seems a pity that a larger audience was not present to show their appreciation of what is being done by the Arts Association of the University of Hong Kong.

JAPAN AND INDIAN COTTON

India's Tariff Assurances

A full statement of the proceedings at the meeting between the Indian and Japanese delegations, with all relevant details of the agreement then reached, has been unexpectedly released for publication.

Mr. Sawada, giving his understanding of the agreement on behalf of Japan, said that the Government of India would have the right to vary the tariff to correct the effect of any variation of the exchange value of the yen relative to the rupee, but, in varying the tariff, it would consider relevant factors which might tend to raise the export prices of Japanese goods, such as the purchase of raw material outside Japan. Reciprocally, Japan could impose special customs duty on Indian goods provided that such rights should not accrue to Japan unless the exchange value of the rupee depreciated below the value of decimal 732 yen.

Mr. Sawada added that the customs duty on Japanese cotton piece goods would be on plain greys 50 per cent, or 5½ annas per pound; on others at the rate of 30 per cent.

Japan could export to India in the piece goods year (April to March 31) 325 million yards linked to 1,000,000 bales in the corresponding cotton year. If the export of cotton falls below the basic quota already mentioned the piece goods quota would be reduced at the rate of 2 million yards for every 16,000 bales of deficit. If the cotton export exceeded the million bales the Japanese could export to India one and a half million yards for every additional 10,000 bales, provided that the piece goods quota in no case exceeded the total of 400 million yards. When cotton exports exceeded one and a half million bales in any year, these would be credited to cotton exports allowed in the following cotton year.

Sir Joseph Bhoré replied that the Indian delegates were in full agreement with the substance of Mr. Sawada's statement.

Mr. Sawada then announced the withdrawal of the Japanese cotton boycott. Sir Joseph Bhoré declared that the customs duties would be reduced from the 8th of this month.

MR. HARRIMAN'S REPORT

The market during the week under review was not so active as its predecessor, and the volume of trading was not on a large scale, but nevertheless a fairly large amount of business was done in China Lights (old) for forward delivery at $90.50/70 February and $10.60/85 March. Hotels were slightly easier having been transacted at $8.35/45. Cements were rather quiet but could be placed at $2.60. Providents (old) continued in demand at $2.85, the new shares being enquired for at 60 cents. Investment counters, ruled slightly easier. Hongkong trams failed to maintain the price of last week, with shares offering at $22.85. Hongkong Electric and sellers at $78½ and Hongkong Lands at $73½. Telephones suffered a slight set-back with buyers offering only $26.50 for the old shares, but closed steadier with business done at $26.80 March. Dairy Farms maintained steady at around $29.20. Sterling issues showed no change. Hongkong Banks having been done at $1.85/90 and Unions at $577½. In the mining section, Philippine mining shares were quiet, but Raubs were in demand at $13½. The tone of the market at the close is very steady.

Business Done During The Week:

Hongkong Banks, $1,855/1,860.
Canton Insurances, $315.00
Unions, $577½.
Steamboats, $12.50.

Telephones (old), $26.30/26.50.
Dairy Farms, $29½.

I.R.C. OVERWHELM LEAGUE CHAMPIONS

Pereira Comes Of With Bat And Ball

CLUB AND KOWLOON SHARE THE POINTS

A full programme of League matches was played on Saturday when some high individual scores were registered. The needle match of the afternoon, that between the Club and Kowloon ended in a draw, but the Club would have been in a bad way but for the fact that Owen Hughes (82 not out) and Ricketts (52) batted in fine style when the Club needed runs desperately.

Frank Pereira, the Indian Recreation Club speed merchant also came off with both bat and ball against the University, and perhaps the pluckiest innings of the afternoon was that of H. F. Westlake who scored 32 out of 73 for the Civil Service against Craigengower Cricket Club.

The full scores of the matches played will be found below:

"NATIONAL GRID"

The linking of all the important electrical power stations in Great Britain is now complete and the country enters on a new industrial era. This system, known as the "National Grid," is of such moment for the future of British industries, and its erection during the last five years has been of such value to electrical plant manufacturers, that a short résumé of this achievement will be given here.

Up to the period of the war the British electrical supply industry was in a somewhat chaotic condition. It was owned by a large number of small, overlapping companies or municipal authorities. Some rendered very efficient service, others the reverse. Their charges varied considerably. After the war the same impulse towards unification and coordination, which resulted in the railways being brought under one, led to legislation aiming at securing the fruits of co-ordination in the sphere of electrical supply. Chief among such fruits is the saving of the consumption of coal. This saving has, of course, been of some loss to the railway companies, for power, instead of passing about the country in the form of raw coal in trucks, now passes over the wires of the "grid" in the form of electricity. On the other hand electricity is made more available for the railway company (the Southern is distinguished in this direction) that cares to use it.

In 1919 an advance to unification was made by the appointment of the Electricity Commissioners, whose duty it was to promote, regulate, and supervise the supply of electricity. They were instructed to map out the whole country into districts in each of which a joint electricity authority was to provide and secure a cheap and abundant supply. Later it was recognised that the powers of these Commissioners were inadequate to their purpose and in 1926 an Electricity Supply Act was carried through Parliament. It is to this Act that the "Grid" owes its existence, also the Central Electricity Board which, under the Commissioners, administer it.

The Board was required by the Act to construct a great system of interlinked main transmission lines extending all over Great Britain, these lines to be fed with current from a limited number of large generating stations. Another important function of the Board was to work that system as a commercial enterprise, that is to say, they were to act as wholesale dealers in electricity for the supply to the distributing undertakings (municipal or commercial) which retailed light and power to the public. The first duty of the Board is now practically finished.

All through the countryside of Great Britain one may see the evidences of this work. Over twenty-six thousand light steel towers carry the transmission lines of the "grid." These towers, or "pylons," are not without a touch of gracefulness, and in setting them up every care has been taken to preserve the amenities of the locality. At any rate, the traveller about the country to-day passes through a different countryside from that of five years ago, for in no part of Great Britain, except the far north of Scotland, is it possible to travel far without going under some of the many thousands of transmission cables. Each pylon carries from three to seven cables and in some congested districts, duplicate pylons have had to be erected to carry cables in excess of seven. The visitor to London who enters it by ship, sailing up the Thames, at Dagenham passes under cables of the "Grid" connecting Essex and Kent. These are carried on two towers erected on the opposite shores, each 487 feet high. The span here is over 3,000 feet. Good progress has also been made in the concentration of the generation in large stations, selected for their efficiency or for their suitability of position. Naturally many of the smaller and less economical stations have been closed, and in addition to enlarging existing stations a number of new stations have been built. When the Board began its work there were approximately five hundred generating stations throughout the country engaged in public supply. The total number contemplated when the programme of reorganization is complete is 135.

The country has been divided into ten main areas and in them central power stations generate the current. In addition to these in the completed scheme there are also 273 transforming and switching stations necessary to render the supplies available to the distributing authorities. The transmission cables are capable of carrying quantities of energy up to 50,000 kilowatts in each circuit from one part of the area to another.

The total cost of construction is about £27 millions, which is within 2½ per cent. of the original estimate of the Electricity Commissioners. The present plant will, it is expected, be able to deal with the expanding output for the next ten years, in which period it is hoped to bring up the present consumption of about 225 units per head to about 500 units. Last year the amount of electricity generated for public consumption was 12,248 million units, a figure which it is anticipated will be more than doubled by 1940. By then the "electrical era" will be well under way.

FIRES IN CANTON

$220,000 Damages
Last Week

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, Feb. 4.
Destruction of houses by fire is a daily occurrence in Canton. The unusually dry weather is responsible for the fires in different parts of the city especially in the crowded sections, and in each outbreak at least ten or twelve houses were burnt down.

Last night the famous Nam Yuen Restaurant in Man Cheong Hong near Sui Fat Po was partially destroyed by fire.

Damages to the restaurant and the surrounding houses are estimated to be about $100,000.

Other fire outbreaks during the week-end occurred at Ho Pun Street, White Cloud Road and Hou Fook Street. The total loss of property during the week amounted to be about $220,000. The fire brigade had a very busy time. Happily the water-works were functioning well and gave a good supply in fighting the fires.

The fire brigade of the Bureau of Public Safety has ordered a fire boat from London for service on the Pearl River. Constructed at a cost of over $100,000, the boat recently arrived at Hong Kong and will steam up to Canton sometime this month.

TO REDUCE BANK NOTES IN CIRCULATION

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, Feb. 4.
Banknotes sealed up by order of the Provincial Department of Finance on December 6 representing a month and a half rent collected by landlords will be unsealed on February 6, and the landlords will receive eight per cent. interest from the government.

Such notes, though sealed by the authorities, are deposited with the landlords, as the object is to diminish the number of banknotes circulating in the market and to stabilise those in circulation.

CONTINENTAL CABLE NEWS
TO HELP GERMANY'S POOR

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Berlin, Feb. 3.
In order to show their gratitude for German hospitality, prominent members of the British colony, including the staff of the Embassy and the Consulate-General, have resolved to assist in the winter relief scheme successfully launched by the German Government at the beginning of this winter.

The Britishers, under the patronage of the British Ambassador, on Wednesday next at the Kurfürstendamm Theatre will stage an American comedy, "Nothing But The Truth," which promises to be a brilliant social event.

The cast is composed entirely of Britishers and the proceeds will go to the German Relief Scheme.—Transocean Kuo Min.

A THOUSAND MARKS REWARD

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Munich, Feb. 3.
A thousand marks reward was offered on Saturday by the State Government for information leading to the capture of an unknown prisoner who fired two shots on January 20, at Archbishop Faulhaber's palace.

Experts say that the mysterious shooting was committed with a small calibre pistol. No damage was done.—Transocean Kuo Min.

CHI CHANG IN GERMANY

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Frankfurt, Feb. 3.
Chi Chang, president of the Academy of War at Nanking, and now travelling through Europe pursuing military studies, is specially well-known in Germany for the defence of Ku Pei Ku against the Japanese troops.

Chi Chang paid a visit to the Chinese Institute at Frankfurt and was received by the Director, Dr. Rouselle, and his staff who gave an address of welcome in the Chinese language, his collaborators being the curator of the University, other distinguished officials and finally Chinese students of the University. Rouselle emphasised the cordiality of relations between China and Germany.

Mr. Chi Chang replied that everywhere in Germany he had found complete understanding of the special national problems of China and hoped that what he had seen at the Chinese Institute at Frankfurt will assist to the intensification of friendly relationship between China and Germany.—Transocean Kuo Min.

CONFISCATION OF ARMS

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Vienna, Feb. 3.
In connection with the confiscation of arms in possession of the dissolved Republican Societies that have taken place lately at Schwecht and the neighbourhood, many arrests have been made. Among these are the well-known leaders of the former Republicans including Major Elfer and Captain Loew.

Members of the dissolved societies appeared before a Court on Saturday, charged with having laid hand grenades in children's homes. Sentences from six to seven months were imposed.—Transocean Kuo Min.

LEIPZIG FAIR SUCCESS

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Leipzig, Feb. 3.
Success is proved by the fact that the Leipzig World Merchandise Fair, opening on March 4, promises to be on a greater scale than for several years past, the number of exhibits registered for the Technical and Building section being already 35 per cent. greater than last year. Tool-making machines is 50 per cent. higher and household furniture shows an increase of 25 per cent. No department is showing a smaller increase than 10 per cent.

The amount of space rented already is twenty-five per cent. above last year's figure.—Transocean Kuo Min.

HOLD UP BY WOLVES!

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Bucharest, Feb. 3.
Wolf packs beleaguered the town of Pruth on Saturday, holding up the streets for hours till the police and shock troops marched out the majority.

The prevailing snowstorms and lack of food throughout the country has driven hundreds of the ravenous beasts into various lonely hamlets last week, but never before have such numbers been known to hold up an entire town.—Transocean Kuo Min.

NOBEL PRIZE CANDIDATE

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Warsaw, Feb. 3.
The famous Polish marshal Pilsudski is proposed as a candidate for the year's Nobel Peace Prize by the Juridical Faculty of the University of Cracow.

In a telegram to the Nobel Prize Committee, the Faculty declares that Pilsudski, by concluding the non-aggression pact with Soviet Russia and Germany, rendered signal services towards the cause of peace in Europe.—Transocean Kuo Min.

TRANS-ATLANTIC FLIGHTS

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Brémen, Feb. 3.
The second mid-Atlantic floating stage to serve as a landing place for aeroplanes, and to relieve the West Phalan from time to time, will be put into service shortly. Negotiations for the purchase of the Schwarzen Fels are nearing completion.

The necessary transformation will be carried out in the same yard as the West Phalan was reconstructed. This proves that the West Phalan has succeeded in the purpose for which she was intended so that the dangers of the trans-Atlantic flight from now will be considerably lessened.—Transocean Kuo Min.

A "FEME" MURDER

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Berlin, February 2.
Investigations into the murder of a carpenter named Kattner in Nowawes near Berlin, revealed that it is a case of a "feme" murder committed by Communists.

Kattner was formerly a confidential friend of Thaelmann who is about to be tried shortly for high treason, and Kattner had been called as witness for the Public Prosecutor. Kattner has of late frequently received threatening letters from Communist sources and had been ordered to disappear to Russia before the case comes up for trial. Since he had neglected to heed the warnings or carry out the orders, he had been foully murdered. Four leading functionaries of the former Communist Party including Thaelmann's successor, the infamous John Scheer, were implicated.

A COPYRIGHT WORD

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Leipzig, Feb. 3.
The word "whisky" is the term for spirits peculiar to England and Scotland, and therefore must not be used for similar spirits produced and sold in Germany, is the decision of the Supreme Court here.

This ends a protracted legal dispute brought by British firms of whisky distillers against a German firm.—Reuter.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

One case of meningitis is reported for the 24 hours ended February 2.

Major J. F. Jebens has succeeded Major Welman as Commandant of the British Legion Guard.

According to an announcement in the Gazette, the Naval Volunteer Ordinance comes into operation to-day.

It is notified in the "Government Gazette" that at the expiration of three months from January 27, 1934, the name of the Wah Nam Banking Company, Ltd., will, unless cause is shown to the contrary, be struck off the register and the company dissolved.

While walking along Chatham Road, near the European Y.M.C.A. Kowloon on Saturday evening, Mrs. Stafford Smith had her black leather handbag, containing £18.80, snatched by a Chinese. The culprit, however, was seen by Major R. G. Lochner, M.C. of the South Wales Borderers, who caught him.

The National Economic Commission is reported to have drawn up plans for the reclamation of waste land in northern Kiangsu. According to the investigations recently instituted by this organization, no less than 13,000,000 mow of land is still unclaimed which the Commission has decided to convert into cotton fields to yield $100,000,000 annually.

WEDDING AT CATHEDRAL

Member of Bank Staff Married

MORTLOCK-NIBLOCK

There was a large gathering at St. John's Cathedral on Saturday when Miss Kathleen Niblock only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Niblock, late of Singapore, but now of Upper Bassett, Hampshire, England, was married to Mr. Douglas Walter Mortlock, sub-Accountant of Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. T. Mortlock of Tonbridge, Kent.

The Very Rev. Dean Swann and the Rev. J.L.C. Isard, of Tonbridge, a school fellow of the bridegroom, officiated at the wedding.

The bride who was given away by Mr. W. P. Douglas, M. I. Mech. E., Superintendent Engineer of the Singapore Harbour Board, wore a cream pan velvet ankle-trook, with a cloak of the same material, a hand-made veil and a crown of orange blossoms. She carried a sheaf of arum lilies.

The bridesmaids, the Misses Davidson and Miss Brown, were dressed in mauve organdie ankle-high frocks, with velvet coats to match, and bonnets trimmed with violets. Each carried a posy of violets.

Mr. T. H. A. McCarthy, of the P. and O. Banking Corporation, formerly of Singapore, performed the duties of best man, while Mrs. W. P. Douglas was the Matron of Honour. The groomsmen were Messrs. R. A. Jardine and F. H. King.

After the ceremony a reception was given by Mr. V. M. Grayburn, Manager of the Hong Kong Bank at St. John's Place, at which a large gathering of friends were present.

The honeymoon is being spent in travel. The bride's going-away dress was a silver-brown ensemble.

BERLIN SHARE MARKET

"Continues Lively"

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Berlin, February 3.
The share market continued lively though in some cases prices tended to drop owing to profit-taking. The turnover was much larger than usual on Saturdays. The optimistic tone is due to the continuation of favourable economic reports, for instance that of goods traffic on German railways for 1933 which were considerably higher than in 1932.

Fixed interest securities were mostly quiet though a demand for foreign investments was evident. Throughout the whole week markets kept growing firmer and had a continued effect with the impetus given by the news of the German-Polish non-aggression pact.

Numerous reports about the economic trend during 1933 published together during the week show the improvement in the outlook to be definite, substantial and continuous.
Call Money 4½ to 5½. Young Loan 1½ weaker at 95½. Reichsbank unchanged at 165½. Dye Trusts improved 1 to 127½. Salzfutur Potash unchanged at 149. German Steel Trusts 1 higher at 43½. German Mineral Oils rose 1½ to 105½. Siemenshalske jumped 2½ to 145½.—Transocean Kuo Min.

SERIOUS SITUATION IN AUSTRIA

Cabinet to Discuss Position On Monday

DOLLFUSS CONSULTS FOREIGN MINISTERS

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Vienna, February 3. Chancellor Dollfuss late on Friday night received, successively, Ministers from England, France and Italy, in order to discuss with them the seriousness of the situation in Austria. An extraordinary council of Austrian Ministers is expected to be held to-day or Monday to finally decide on the projected international move of the Austrian Government. Meanwhile, there is considerable internal strife among the various parties. The demand raised by Heimwehr that both the Christian-Social and the Social-Democratic parties be dissolved has caused great indignation in the parties concerned and both strenuously oppose all attempts to carry this out.—Transocean Kuo Min.

GERMANY'S ANSWER TO AUSTRIAN NOTE

Berlin, February 2.

In an Austrian official communiqué, issued after a Cabinet meeting held at Vienna on February 2, it was asserted that the German Government made no adequate reply to the complaints raised in the Note presented by the Austrian Government, so that the German answer to the note is regarded by Austria as unsatisfactory. In view of the attitude taken up by the Austrian Government, the Reichsgovernment feels prompted to publish the text of its answer which contains the following salient features:—

The note reads, "this is not a matter of conflict between two German States as such, coming within the province of international law as conceived by the Austrian Government but rather a certain course of action taken up by the Austrian Government towards a movement of historical significance that has spread over the whole German people: National-Socialism that has served the population of the Reich with elemental force and has likewise cast its influence for a long time past over the German population in Austria. Owing to measure of protection taken by the Austrian Government this movement is being denied the right of lawful development and peaceful evolution. It stands to reason that a political frontier between the Reich and Austria does not eliminate the racial feeling inbred in the two peoples, nor can it prevent ideas which seize the whole nation on one side of the dividing line from spreading to the other. It is inevitable that grave internal political conflict in Austria should have repercussions on the sentimental relationship of the Reich to Austria. Nevertheless the German Government has scrupulously avoided any interference in the internal affairs of Austria and has repeatedly stated that it has not the slightest intention of resorting to forcible interference of any kind of violation of treaty obligations with Austria."

POIGNANT REGRET

"Hence the German Government can only express poignant regret that the Austrian Government has upon several occasions attributed the German Government with the intention of threatening the independence of Austria. This being the fundamental attitude of the German Government it is understood that the German Government would be highly gratified should an understanding be at last arrived at between the Austrian Government and the National Socialist Party in Austria."

The Note closes with the following passage:

"Summarising the foregoing, the German Government can but express regret that the Austrian Government has considered it appropriate to make such grave reproaches although their unjustifiable character must have been apparent from former communications made by the German Government. The procedure of the Austrian Government is all the more regretted by the German Government because the Austrian Government, without awaiting the result of enquiry made by the German Government, simultaneously submitted the matter to consideration of other Governments as well. If, furthermore, the Austrian Government declares that it is seriously considering a plan of submitting the matter to the League of Nations, it must itself take responsibility for the consequences of such action. The German Government is, however, not of the opinion that this problem which in reality has its roots in purely internal Austrian political conflict can be made the subject of or be amenable to solution by international treatment.—Transocean Kuo Min.

A DIFFICULT POSITION

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Vienna, February 3. The Christian Social Party which is the mainstay of the Dollfuss Government, as well as the Socialists is up in arms against Heimwehr organisations and demands the dissolution of all political parties. The Christian Social leaders are understood to have informed the Chancellor that they are determined to oppose the Heimwehr's demand by all means at their disposal.

The Socialists have issued a strongly worded appeal to the people stressing that the latter's constitutional rights must not be restricted and that any attempt to dissolve political parties would seriously complicate the situation for which no one would be able to assume the responsibility. As the Heimwehr are stated to insist unequivocally on fulfilment of its demands, there appears to be no way for Dollfuss to extricate himself from the precarious position without antagonising a large section of his supporters.—Transocean Kuo Min.

MORE STAVISKY REVELATIONS

9,000,000 Francs For "Volonte"

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Paris, February 4. Further lurid light is thrown on the rock-like career of Stavisky by revelations made by the swindler's private secretary in preliminary investigations here.

According to Stavisky's personal agent, the master confidence-man had planned a flight to Venezuela and expected to have no serious trouble with the police when making his exit, since in his opinion the Government could in no way afford to take a chance of his arrest in lifting the curtain on political corruption. Stavisky, himself, had modestly assessed the limit of his successful depredation at 280,000,000 francs. His secretary further declared that his employer had ruefully admitted "throwing away" 9,000,000 francs to the newspaper "Volonte" and philanthropically donating two more millions for presentation of a single play at the Empire Theatre.—Transocean Kuo Min.

PRESENT GOVERNMENT TO REMAIN IN POWER

London, Feb. 3.

The British Cabinet has reached a decision to continue the National Government until after the Budget in 1935, according to the "News Chronicle" which adduces the move to three main reasons.

Firstly, to forestall the Conservative criticism of the Premier, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald.

Secondly, to assure a united front during the stormy weather in connection with the Indian legislation and Disarmament, and thirdly, to stabilise the domestic policy.

The decision, the newspaper declares, was reached this week.—Reuter.

MANY MILLIONS PROFIT

According To U.S. "New Style"

Washington, Feb. 4.

A Treasury statement shows a profit of 2,088 million "new style" as a result of the devaluation of the dollar and consequent revaluation of gold stocks in the Federal Reserve Banks. Thus the statement shows a sudden surplus of 974 million dollars compared with a deficit of 1,923 million dollars on January 31.

Gold stocks on February 1 are valued at 7,018 million dollars compared with 4,035 million hundred cents dollars on January 31.

As the two billion dollar stabilisation fund was to be created from gold profit the statement either indicates the fund has not yet been created or has been kept as part of the gold stocks shown in the Treasury's books.—Reuter.

ENORMOUS JANUARY DEFICIT

Washington, Feb. 3.

The first official evidence of the huge expenditure of United States Government loan money for purposes of financing Recovery, is afforded by the Treasury returns showing that the public debt of the United States increased by U.S.$1,254,000,000 during January.

The amount is several times as large as any previous month during the Roosevelt regime, and exceeds the monthly borrowings during the Great War.

A portion of the borrowings went to increase the Treasury's General Fund and will be available later for expenditure.

Express expenditure over receipts totals over U.S. $743,000,000, which is the largest since the War.

Emergency expenditure totalled U.S. $308,000,000.—Reuter.

The London on New York cross-rate at the closing to-day was 4.94.

RUSH TO BUY GOLD

London, February 3.

Commenting on the situation caused by the United States return to the gold bullion Standard the Times City Editor points out the action has caused two strongly opposed movements, namely, a rush to buy gold in cheaper markets of America, and on the other hand a rush to buy dollars and dollar securities. The first movement tends to reduce the value of the dollar while the other operates to raise it. The second movement has been more powerful in its influence than the first, despite plans for very large shipments of gold to America. The writer mentions there is at present no sign of the American exchange fund being brought into operation for the purchase of francs and pounds to a point of eliminating the premium of the dollar over the gold franc which so long as it remains will induce gold shipments to the United States. These are being made by private institutions and not by the United States Government.—British Wireless Service.

$2,000,000,000 STABILISATION FUND TO BE USED

Washington, Feb. 3.

Because the devalued dollar is not fulfilling the prospects of its sponsors, it is understood that officials are preparing to launch operations with the stabilisation fund.

They confidently predict rates of U.S. $5.10 to the pound and U.S. $8.63 to 100 francs, whereas the rate against sterling is at present stronger than before devaluation.—Reuter.

FIGHTING IN KANSU

Peking, Feb. 3.

Reports are current here that General Sun Tien-ying has telegraphed to the National Government announcing his readiness to retire and asking Nanking to appoint someone to take over his command.

The Government is reported to have despatched two air squadrons to Ninghsia to assist General Ma Hung-kwei.

Mongol circles expect hostilities to cease shortly, declaring that General Sun is on the verge of collapse.—Reuter.

GERMANY'S REPLY TO FRENCH AIDE MEMOIRE

Still Maintains Equality In Armaments

ONLY SOLUTION OF EUROPEAN POLITICAL PROBLEMS

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Berlin, February 3.

Germany's reply to the French aide memoire was communicated to the Press on Saturday following the publication of the French document in Paris on Friday.

Regarding the question of effectiveness the German memorandum says that standardisation of armaments must necessarily depend on whether the projected type will also be accepted by other states. Moreover, the value of the reduction of her effectives, consented to by France for the first period can only be properly appreciated when it is known what use she intends making of her overseas troops.

After careful examination of the principle suggestions contained in French plan, Germany thinks that grave doubts arise as to whether a settlement of the disarmament problem which would be really just and serve to consolidate peace, would be possible along those lines. The memorandum goes on to say that of course it is not the intention of Germany to reject such disarmament measures concerning which an early agreement appears possible. On the contrary, nothing would be more welcome to the German Government than the most extensive possible limitation of armaments, but so far as the German Government interprets the situation existing to-day such limitations would be far from assuming such proportions as would admit of a realisation of Germany's claim to equality conforming with the Declaration of December 11, 1932. When this fact is grasped, the only means of coming to an early settlement appears to be to lay down those disarmament measures concerning which agreement at the present time is possible and as for the rest, to maintain armaments of heavy armed states at the present level for duration of the first convention while permitting Germany's demand for equality to be realized by a certain measure of adaptation of her armaments to the level of other states.

The German proposal has no other object but to draw attention to the consequences arising from a situation for which Germany is not responsible. Germany cannot be expected to bear alone the consequences in such a way that she be subjected for years to come to one-sided limitation which are wholly out of proportion to the armaments of other states.

The German Government cannot admit that the figure of three hundred thousand men for Germany's defensive army is excessive. On the contrary this figure represents the minimum of what Germany under existing circumstances requires for her security in view of her geographical conditions, as well as the length and shape of her frontiers. This appears all the more evident when the figure in question is compared with the armaments of Germany's neighbours of whom France herself, her allies, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Belgium mainly come into consideration.

Germany has no comparable factor to expose to the trained reserves of these countries. The German Government has already expressed its readiness to submit the Storm detachments and other formations of a non-military character to the suggested international control, provided other countries assume the same obligations in respect of their own similar organisations in order to exceed the laid down limits in eventual agreement, would be dispensed.

The memorandum concludes by emphasizing that settlement of the disarmament question is an urgent requirement of the present hour, the success of which will clear the way for the solution of still unsolved political problems.—Transocean Kuo Min.

CAPT. EDEN TO TOUR EUROPE

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

London, February 3.

It is stated in informed quarters that the British Government is ready to send its disarmament expert, Lord of the Privy Seal, Capt. Eden, to the various European capitals if Foreign governments should further wish to be enlightened concerning the British proposals. The Daily Mail's political correspondence understands that Capt. Eden will set off on his journey next Tuesday and will visit Paris, Berlin and Rome in the order named. The correspondent further maintains that Capt. Eden will not only advocate acceptance of the British proposals but will also sound foreign governments' opinion as to Mussolini's renewed suggestion for the convocation of a five-power conference, including the United States.—Transocean Kuo Min.

Germany's principal objections are:—

Firstly, that the French suggestions regarding war material would postpone Disarmament for several years, and that it would not contribute to security if the highly-armed Powers only undertook not to prepare new weapons of aggression while Germany is restricted to inadequate weapons, allowed under the Treaty of Versailles.

Secondly, that the question of numerical strength is only ascertainable when the French proposals regarding overseas troops is known, especially those in Africa.

Thirdly, that if Germany is refused an Air Force, not even a reduction in the air strength of other States will alter the fact of Germany's radical inequality.

Fourthly, that the proposed control system is unfair in that it will work differently for disarmed States when compared with highly-armed States.

Fifthly, that the decisive question is, whether the discrimination against Germany is to be prolonged for a further period of years and whether the other Powers will find justification in a plan so irreconcilable to the honour and the security of Germany.—Reuter.

NO REPLIES RECEIVED

London, February 3.

London has not received and does not yet expect any considerable comments on the new British disarmament memorandum from Governments to which it was communicated. For the time being its proposals, it is understood, are being carefully examined in their political and technical aspects.

Process is likely to be followed by verbal exchanges of views in which British representatives abroad will explain or elaborate any points upon which the Government to which they are accredited require additional information. Hope is expressed with some confidence that when the President and principal officers of Disarmament Conference meet in London on February 13 to consider the situation at that time and a date for the resumption of conference meetings, they will find that preliminary negotiations will have produced considerable advance.—British Wireless Service.

HINDUS AND MOSLEMS

Disagree Over Mosque Site

Stalkot, Punjab, Feb. 4.

Fierce communal rioting was caused by a dispute between Hindus and Moslems, the latter wish to build a Mosque on the common camping ground opposite the Hindu temple at Anantnag.

The Governor of Kashmir has directed the matter to be submitted to the Civil Court.

Moslems held a procession despite prohibition and clashed with the police whom they stoned. There were several casualties. Kashmir is predominantly Moslem with a Hindu ruler.

There were serious disorders in 1931 arising from allegations of the communal disabilities of the Moslems.—Reuter.

DROWNING TRAGEDY IN SHANGHAI

Shanghai, Feb. 3.

Two women, a girl and two small boys lost their lives when a brick-laden junk was swamped by the wash of a steam launch and foundered off Nanking Road Jetty at 12.20 p.m. to-day.

The tragedy occurred in full sight of hundreds of homeward-bound office workers.

Five other occupants of the junk were rescued.—Reuter.

ANOTHER FRENCH POLITICAL CRISIS

Daladier's Cabinet Expected to Resign

M. DOUMERGUE EXPECTED TO FORM NEW GOVERNMENT

PARIS, FEBRUARY 4.

WELL-INFORMED CIRCLES REGARD THE GOVERNMENT'S DEFEAT IN THE CHAMBER ON TUESDAY INEVITABLE UNLESS IT HAS PREVIOUSLY RESIGNED.

M. DOUMERGUE IS AT PRESENT IN PARIS AND IT IS UNDERSTOOD HE IS PREPARED TO ACCEPT THE PREMIERSHIP, WHILE M. PAUL BONCOUR HAS ACCEPTED THE POST OF WAR MINISTER.—Reuter.

M. CHAPPE HAS DECLINED TO BE MADE A SCAPEGOAT. HE HAS REFUSED "PROMOTION" TO A MOROCCAN POST BECAUSE HIS DEPARTURE IN THE PRESENT CIRCUMSTANCES WOULD BE ILL-INTERPRETED. IN PUBLIC OPINION CHAPPE HAS ACQUIRED THE REPUTATION OF BEING THE NAPOLEON OF PARIS POLICE AND A TERROR TO EVIL DOERS. HIS REFUSAL TO DISAPPEAR WILL SERIOUSLY INCREASE THE GOVERNMENT'S EMBARRASSMENT.—Reuter.

CHAPPE DECLINES NEW POST

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Paris, Feb. 4.

The deposed Police President, Chappé, has thrown an unexpected wrench in the neat machinery of the Cabinet compromise by which Premier Daladier hoped to reconcile the opposed political camps by declining to take over the lucrative and important post of Governor of Morocco.

Since the enigmatic former Chief of Police is closely keeping to his room on "doctors' orders" since Friday, the motives for his refusal are unavailable as yet, according to the French Press.—Transocean Kuo Min.

A CABINET CRISIS

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Paris, February 3.

Persistent assertions continue to be heard from high political circles about the crisis inside the new Daladier Cabinet owing to irreconcilable differences of opinion between the Premier and some members of the Cabinet as to the chastisement which should be meted out to the officials involved in the Stavisky affair.

The semi-official "Temps" reports that on Saturday several ministers threatened to resign in case the demands of the Neo-Socialists, being voiced by the Home Minister, Frot, for the transfer of the chief of police, M. Chappé, should be acceded to.

The "Temps" says that M. Daladier is quite prepared to accept the threatened resignations of these ministers before the Chamber meets on Tuesday, he will re-constitute the Cabinet so as to ensure support of both the Socialists and Neo-Socialists.—Transocean Kuo Min.

NEW APPOINTMENTS

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Paris, February 3.

Chief of Police, Chappé, was appointed on Saturday night, Governor-General of Morocco, Pressard, the attorney, has been appointed judge of the Appeal Court.—Transocean Kuo Min.

HIGH NETTING BY BOTH TEAMS

Yeung Shiu Yick's Brilliant Wing Display

STRANGE SHOWS POOR FORM

The Combined Chinese shared ten goals with the Interport team on the Railway ground, the result being a drawn game of five goals all.

South China made a bold bid for the Division II. championship when they defeated the Athletic at Caroline Hill by eight clear goals.

The Lincoln Regt. are still having their successes in Division II. and now have sixteen consecutive wins.

The struggle for the runners-up position in this division is left to the South Wales Borderers and South China. South China by winning on Saturday equal the Borderers in points with a game in hand.

The Radio sent a team to King's Park and were defeated by seven clear goals by the Recreio.

The following are the results of matches played.

INTERPORT PRACTICE GAME

Chinese force Hongkong Selected Team to a Draw.

The final match before leaving the Colony for Shanghai saw the Selected team against a strong Chinese XI on the Railway ground. The Chinese fielded a very nippy forward line, and the Colony's Selected XI defence had a fairly grueling time, especially with the right wing, Fung King Cheong and Yeung Shiu Yick, had them guessing most of the game. Pau Ka Ping was a good leader, opening out the play well to the wings. The Athletic wing were not so effective as the South China wing, but they had Leung Wing Chui to contend with and the South China player broke up many attempts to break through by Ho Ka Keung and Fung King Yui.

Ho Chai Yin, in the pivotal position for the Chinese was a hard worker although he found A. V. Gosano too speedy for him during the first half. Lee Tin Sang played his usual game in the defence being well supported by Tong Kwan who dropped back from the middle line in place of Lau Mau. Ip Pang Fai had several hard tussles with B. Gosano and Tam during the first half and quite held his own against Gosano and Tay during the second half. Li Kwok Li, in goal, although beaten five times, played a sound game.

appear that the side fielded against them in the first half, had they continued throughout the game, would have been leading when the final whistle sounded. Leading at four goals to two at the interval, the Interport team fielded the Reserves during the second half. Leonard, Elliott, Brittain, Tay Quee Liang and Cork played in this half in place of A. V. Gosano, Ridley, Pile, Tam Kong, Pak and Beltrao, while Pile dropped back to partner Strange in place of Allen. The first fifteen minutes of the second half was dull, the new players failing to settle down for some time.

Play opened in favour of the XI. Ridley sent out to the left and Hocquard shooting from the touch line, the ball entered the net. Li letting the ball pass over his head, Fung King Yui was sent in by Pau, but his shot went the wrong side of the net. Pau again swung out to the left and Fung placing the ball in front of the net. Strange running back got his shoulder to the ball and sent it into the net with McHardy out to clear. The Chinese took the lead when Ho Ka Keung accepted a pass from Fung and shot into the net from close range. The score now being two to one in favour of the Chinese. Beltrao sent Hocquard away and A. V. meeting the centre scored the best goal of the match, flicking the ball with a fine header well out of Li's reach to make the score two all. The XI took the lead through Ridley from a pass by Beltrao. The Lincolns player going in to beat Li from close range. A. V. Gosano was going through when he was dropped just outside the penalty area. Taking the free kick himself, A. V. sent in a fast ground shot, the ball entering the net near the upright, Li being deceived by his back misdirection, and he dived too late to reach the ball on its way to the net. Halftime, XI 4, Chinese 2.

Resuming the Chinese for a time had a little shooting practice and McHardy had a busy time in goal. Fung eventually shot over to relieve the pressure. Elliott and Leonard took the ball down and the former sent to Hocquard who shot behind.

Tay sent in a fast low shot which was well fielded by Li. Leonard came through, but pulled the ball across the goal out of play. Strange handled inside the penalty area and Yeung Shiu Yick closed in to take the spot kick. McHardy stopped the shot, but the kick was ordered to be retaken. The second kick sent the ball into the net well out of McHardy's reach. The Chinese levelled up through Yeung who sent in a hard shot, the ball striking the foot of the upright rebounded into the net to make the score four all. From a centre by Hocquard, Leonard nodded the ball into the net to give the XI the lead again.

The Chinese levelled up following a corner kick. The ball passed all the players crowding in the goalmouth and Fung King Yui running in from the left headed the ball into the net to make the score five all. In the closing minutes, the Chinese had hard luck in not scoring the winning goal, McHardy saving well from Pau and Fung. A shot from Hocquard landed on top of the bar and bounced behind. The final whistle sounded with the score five goals all. There were several exciting incidents throughout the game which were well appreciated by the large attendance.

Interport XI.—McHardy: Allen, Strange, Leung Wing Chui, Beltrao, C. Pile, B. Gosano, Tam Kong, Pak, A. V. Gosano, Ridley and Li. Hocquard.

Combined Chinese.—Li Kwok Li, Li Tin Sang, Tong Kwan, Lee Kwok Wai, Ho Chai Yin, Ip Pang Fai, Yeung Shiu Yick, Fung King Cheung, Pau Ka Ping, Ho Ka Keung, and Fung King Yui.

Referee—Capt. E. Hague R.A.

DIVISION II.

H.K. Club v. R.A. On their own ground, the Club beat the Gunners by a goal to nil. The result appeared to be against the general run of the game, but the Club took the chance offered and scored the only goal of the match during the second half.

The Gunners pressed from the kick off, but found the Club defence very sound. Farrow in goal playing an excellent game. After a bout of midfield play on resuming, the Gunners for a time put the Club on the defence, shots being sent in by the Gunners inside forwards. The Gunners could do everything except get the ball in the net. Sending against the crossbar and hitting the uprights with Farrow out of position.

Baldwin came through and sent in a shot that beat Woods with a well placed shot. The R.A. fought gamely to pull the game round, but the Club defence held out until the final whistle sounded.

Kowloon v. R. Navy.

On their own ground, Kowloon lost to the Navy by the odd goal in three. The Navy showed the better form throughout and Boyes did well to keep the score to two goals only against his side. A pass from Chappell to Ford unmarked gave him a clear shot at goal and he beat Boyes to open the score for the Navy. Kowloon levelled up through Reid, who snapped up a pass from White and shot into the net well out of Leech's reach.

The Navy took the lead again, Chappell being sent through with a pass from Ford and beating Boyes from close range. Kowloon for a time held the upper hand, but wild shooting from close range lost them the point.

South China v. Athletic. At Caroline Hill South China defeated the Athletic by eight goals to nil. South China took the lead in the opening minutes through Kai Shui Wing. Leung Tak Wing soon put on the second and scored again to give South China a three goals lead after fifteen minutes play. Before the interval arrived, Ng Po Kui had put the South China team four up.

Leung Tak Wing scored two goals early in the second half. After twenty minutes play in the second half, Kam Sik Wai scored South China's seventh goal and before the final whistle sounded Leung Tak Wing scored the eighth goal and incidentally his fifth goal during the match.

Lincoln Regt. v. Young Indians. Playing within the racecourse, the Lincolns beat the Young Indians by the only goal scored. The Lincolns pressed almost throughout the game, Ahmed the Young Indians goalkeeper playing a good game in goal. The Lincolns did well in the open, but lost numerous chances close in.

Omar handled in the penalty area and Hobson taking the spot kick found his shot stopped by Ahmed. The kick was ordered to be retaken owing to an infringement by a defender. Ahmed stopped the second shot, the ball going behind for a corner kick which was fruitless. The Lincolns kept up the pressure and McQuinness shot through a crowd of players to find the net to win the game for the Lincolns.

DIVISION III.

Lincolns v. Borderers. The Lincolns had their hardest match of the season when they met the Borderers on the military ground at Happy Valley and they won by three clear goals. The game was more even than the score suggests for there was little choice between the teams. All three goals were scored during the first half of the game. A dropping shot by Thompson was helped into the net by a strong wind. Parker put on the second and Clarke went through to score the third goal.

R.A.M.C. v. University. Playing within the racecourse the R.A.M.C. beat the University by one goal to nil. The R.A.M.C. had most of the play and should have won by a larger margin.

The only goal of the match was scored by Goutly from a penalty kick awarded for hands. Previous to this Goutly had failed to convert from a penalty.

Recreio v. Radio. At King's Park the Radio fielded only eight players in their match with the Recreio and went down by seven clear goals. Santos (4).

LOCAL HOCKEY

St. Andrews Retains Headership

CAER CLARK CUP COMPETITION

By defeating the "Y" Ladies by three goals to one on the Marina ground on Saturday, the St. Andrews Ladies retained their headership in the Caer Clark Cup competition.

The game was a mediocre one, both sides being very erratic. Miss J. Weller played an outstanding game in goal for the "Y" and was mainly responsible for the low score, though the Saints' forwards were very erratic in their shooting, missing many opportunities.

Miss P. Gittins scored the only goal for the Saints in the first half, and Miss M. Woolley added the second shortly after the interval. Miss M. Churn broke through to add the third goal, and then Miss O. Brown obtained the "Y" only goal after a brilliant solo effort on the left wing.

The St. Andrews half-back line were the strength of the team, Miss J. Wong, supported by Miss Woolley and M. Churn breaking up all attacks by the "Y" forwards. Miss A. Fowler tackled and cleared strongly in the "Y" defence but was too often erratic.

St. Andrews.—Mrs. R. Rose; E. Landolt, G. White, M. Churn, J. Wong, I. Woolley; F. Wong, I. Rogers, M. Wolley, I. Gittins and P. Gittins.

"Y" Ladies.—J. Weller, Mrs. Portallion, A. Fowler; B. Blumenthal, E. Thomson, M. Gardiner; V. Bradbury, M. Glendening, R. Blackmore, T. Dennis and O. Brown.

CHAMPIONS EXTENDED

The Hong Kong Ladies, champions in the Caer Clark Cup Competition, were given a hard game at Soukumpoo by the Recreio "A" Ladies whom they beat by the odd goal in three.

Miss E. Bonnar scored both goals for the winners and Miss C. Silva netted for the Recreio.

The game was very keenly contested throughout, both sides equally sharing the exchanges.

The following were the teams:—H.K. Ladies: M. Bird; E. M. Gray, B. Heilbling; M. Wallace, B. Pope, Mrs. M. K. Lowe; E. Bell, J. Dalziel, F. Bonnar, J. Churchill and Mrs. S. Adams.

Recreio "A": B. D'Almada; M. Basto, C. Osmund, L. Xavier, M. Alves, L. Silva-Netto; M. Remedios, A. Alves, C. Silva, M. Rosa and C. Botelho.

C.B.A. TROUNCHED

The Central British Schoolgirls were beaten by five goals to nil by the C.B.A. "Ladies" who played a much improved game.

Miss E. Woolley scored the first three goals, and Miss M. Smith netted the remaining two. The score at half-time was 3-nil.

Miss G. MacNider played in place of Miss L. Dunne in the Ladies' half-back line, and Mrs. Hudson substituted for Mrs. Webster, the goal-keeper, the team playing a "three backs" game.

C.B.A.—Mrs. Hudson; P. Woolley, F. K. Walker; M. Bryson, E. Beavis, G. MacNider; D. Hunt, M. Whitley, E. Woolley, M. Smith and Mrs. Miles.

C.B.S.—D. Moss; E. Ingram, J. Bryson; J. de Chaffoy, K. Moir, J. Leakman; H. Knill, L. Hickey, Joy Borker, J. Booker and E. Rousseau.

LEAGUE TABLE TO DATE

Other Matches. In a friendly match at Happy Valley, H.M.S. Cumberland drew with the Incognitos of four goals each.

Mr. Fares netted twice for the Cumberland and de Sousa and E. C. A. de Silva scored for the Incognitos.

The Hong Kong Ladies' second eleven were beaten by two goals to nil by H.M.S. Cumberland at Happy Valley.

Midshipman Read scored both goals for the Cumberland. BORDERERS' MISFORTUNE. Having already lost three of their hockey players during present trooping season, the South Wales Borderers are having the misfortune of again losing a number of their Regimental eleven in the near future. As a result of this some local hockey clubs are likely to be affected as some of these players had been playing for them in their Mamak Tournament matches.

Lieutenants Cresswell and Tyler who were well-known as the Regimental and Army players and Pte. Motherwell, the Regimental goalkeeper left in October on the troopship Neuralla, and among those embarking for home aboard the same steamer on the 23rd inst. are:

Pte. Dyke, Pte. Pole (who had been playing for the Central British Association), Pte. Spear, Pte. Walters, Pte. Durnall and Pte. Hinkley.

Altogether the Borderers have lost nine of their leading players during the trooping season.

YACHTING

Menagerie Race On Saturday

The Mixed class yachting Menagerie Race was held on Saturday when Robena sailed by Capt. Marshall, won from Zephyr sailed by Major Wren. There were seven boats in the race.

Jan (Mr. H. Dreyer) won the "A" class event.

ICE HOCKEY IN CANADA

The Speediest Of Games

That speediest of all sports, ice hockey, is evidently increasing in popularity in Canada, for a report has just been issued by the Canadian Government Bureau of Statistics on the sporting goods industry in Canada for 1933 shows that the total output of hockey sticks during the year was 581,160, or about 15,000 more than in 1931. Most of the big games of ice hockey in Canada are now played on artificial ice in buildings, which one night may accommodate thousands of hockey fans and the next night may be packed by supporters of boxing bouts, or a symphony orchestra. But the elementary course for hockey players is usually taken on the outdoor or indoor rinks of natural ice. A considerable percentage of the players on all the big league hockey teams in the United States are Canadians. Canadians have demonstrated the attractiveness of the game in several other countries. Just now the Shamrocks, an amateur hockey team from Ottawa, are touring the British Isles and Europe and have so far beaten all opponents. Their appearance in the European centers is attracting thousands at each game.

Among other sporting paraphernalia made in Canada are skis, bowling alley equipment, billiard and pool tables, cues, lacrosse sticks, baseball bats and balls, golf and tennis balls, golf clubs, sleighs, coasters, toboggans, gymnasium supplies, badminton bats and shuttlecocks.

There are 30 plants in Canada which specialize in the manufacture of sporting goods. The total value of the products made in the year under review was $1,272,548.

DIOCESAN OLD BOYS DINNER

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT ANNUAL REUNION ON SATURDAY

Dr. Kotewall's Happy Speech

The past pupils of Diocesan Boys' School met at a re-union dinner held on Saturday night at Lane Crawford's restaurant when there was an attendance of over 110.

Mr. J. M. Wong took the chair and there were present, Sir Henry Pollock, the Hon. Mr. R. H. Kotewall, Mr. H. B. L. Dowbiggin, The Very Rev. Dean Swann, Rev. W. W. Rogers and Professor L. Forster.

A very pleasant and enjoyable concert followed the dinner, the contributors being Messrs. R. H. Waller, Chan Tak Hung, Kan Yee Ming, Kan Yee Kit, and Kan Yee Lim.

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED

Prior to the dinner, the election of officers took place, and resulted as follows:

President: Mr. J. M. Wong.
Vice-President: Mr. C. B. R. Sargent and P. H. Sin.
Hon. Treasurer: Mr. T. S. W. Chan.

Hon. Secretary: Mr. W. A. Zimmerman.
General Committee: Messrs. J. D. Bush, B. C. Randall, Peter D. Young, Kenneth Chan, Thomas J. F. Shea, Kwok Chan, Wong Sik Chung, J. L. Youngsaye and Dr. Arthur Woo.

Mr. J. M. Wong, addressing the gathering, took the opportunity to remind them of their duty to the Alma Mater and appealed to all past pupils to work for the progress of the school. The school had great traditions and unless they were prepared to let down their names like Mr. George Percy, they should not relax in their efforts to work for the good of the Diocesan Boys' School.

His Lordship the Bishop congratulated the Committee of the success they had attained during their year of office. He suggested that the members of the Old Boys' Association should be divided into two classes. Those who were willing to support the Association financially, and those who were willing to give of their time.

DR. KOTEWALL'S SPEECH

The Chairman, in calling upon Dr. Kotewall, said that it was his pleasure to ask the most distinguished Old Boy to speak.

Dr. Kotewall said: "I am here this evening in the rather unusual role of a guest, who pays for his dinner (laughter). Some days ago I received a cordial invitation from the Association to this dinner, and without thinking much of the matter, as I was just going on a short holiday, I accepted it. A few days ago I met our keen and energetic Secretary, Willie Zimmerman, and I told him that as I was myself a member of the Association, I should like to be permitted to pay my share of the dinner. You see, gentlemen, I am very jealous of the privilege and right of my membership in the Association, and would not yield it to even the temptation of a free meal. (Laughter) Willie Zimmerman, in the true spirit of a 'D.B.-sonian'—if there is such a name—understood the feeling, and took my $1.50. (Applause). I hope that this spirit which actuated Willie Zimmerman to do what he did pervades the whole Association, in which, in these days, we take such a pride. You may wonder why I used the words 'in these days.' I have a reason. The B.E.S. Old Boys' Association was formed about 14 years ago but it made a bad start and it had never quite recovered from that initial mistake until about this time last year, in his very room, when its drooping spirit was revived by the inspiring encouragement of his Lordship the Bishop (Loud Applause)."

It is sad that our old President, Mr. Chau Yue Teng, is not with us this evening to see the marvelous change in spirit and enthusiasm which the Association has undergone during the last twelve months. Mr. Chau's death is a great loss, not only to the Association, not only to the school, but also to the whole community. I can never forget the sympathy he showed when I went to him for financial help on behalf of the school, and the readiness with which he promised me the $10,000 which, as we all know, helped largely in putting the school on its financial feet again. That donation, given with such timeliness, had more than its monetary value.

The Bishop has paid generous tributes to Mr. Sargent and others for what they have done for the school; (but he has omitted to mention the part which he himself played, and I feel it my duty to put him right (Applause). Without his inspiring leadership, without his great faith, unerring judgment and genius for practical affairs, the school would not have been able to go through, as it did, the most critical period of its existence. Of the credit for this achievement, by far the greatest share must go to Bishop Hall (Loud Applause).

As for Mr. Sargent, I find that I have to borrow the words of another in order to do him proper justice. Two days ago a gentleman of high position, who is a good judge of men, when talking to me about the D.S.S. said 'We must give the school what it needs for its development. It would be a pity to hamper the work of the best Headmaster in the Far East'.

(Applause) A very high compliment indeed for one so young. But is it not deserved? I say it is, and I know that you will say 'so say all of us'. Mr. Sargent's ability, energy, his tremendous enthusiasm, his faith in the school and the solid achievement he has already shown in the short period of one year more than confirm the good opinion already expressed of him. Providence must have been exceptionally partial to Mr. Sargent in showering upon him so many natural gifts. A splendid worker, he is also a fine speaker. At the last Speech Day when he ended his report with that appealing and effective peroration the Bishop felt, as he told me afterwards, that he would like to make him a preacher, and I felt that I would like him to teach me how to speak. (Laughter).

Now it is up to us Old Boys to stand by these two men to support them to the best of our ability. The Old Boys have already done something for the school; they have done what they could, but let me hope that before long they will be in a position to do more. If you think my co-operation, such as it is, would be of any use to you, you have only to ask me (Applause).

I very much appreciate the honour which the Association has done me by electing me to be one of the two Patrons. I must confess that I feel somewhat ashamed for not having been able to take a more active part in the work of the Association, and can only hope that I may some day find myself able to come down from the rather high altitude of a Patron to the firmer ground of a worker.

The Association is fortunate in having as its President my old friend Mr. J. M. Wong, for whose ability and judgment I have a high admiration. Under his leadership, the success of the Association is assured. But let me add, real success—the success such as I conceive it—cannot be attained merely by a large membership or even by a spirit of comradeship and unity, though both these are necessary; but also by sacrifice, by earnest endeavors to be of use to others, and by willing service, so that we may be worthy of the School, of its good name, tradition and character, which have been shaped by successive Headmasters, such as Arthur, Ralphs, Sykes, and above all, George Percy, who for nearly half a century labored for the school with such devotion and success. (Loud applause).

SIR HENRY POLLOCK.
Sir Henry Pollock, who had served on the Committee of the School for a quarter of a century, said it was stimulating and encouraging for him to work for an institution which produced such fine results.

Mr. H. B. L. Dowbiggin, in a brief speech told of his association with the school since 1906. He suggested that honorary life membership should be made possible for men who had been industrious workers for the school.

THE CONCERT.
The concert which followed was a very successful effort, particularly the contributions from Mr. R. H. Waller, a former pupil of the school, who with his father, R. Waller, also a former pupil, were present at the dinner. Mr. Waller, who deputized for someone who had promised a contribution but failed to make an appearance, surprised the gathering with his versatility with the ukulele and his whistling solos.

CHANGING CHINA. A Quarterly Non-Political Review of Life and Conditions in Modern China. Vol. I, No. 1 April, 1933, 128 pp. Vol. I, No. 2 July, 1933, 128 pp. 7 x 4 1/2. Hongkong Daily Press (No. Fleet Street, E.C.4), 1s. 6d. n. or h.

In a prefatory note the editor explains that the purpose of this newly established quarterly is to keep a record of the progress of events in all parts of China and, by disseminating a fuller knowledge of the country's actual conditions and needs, to assist in the promotion of trade and a better understanding between East and West. To this end, qualified correspondents in every province have undertaken to supply reports, commentaries, and forecasts. The first two numbers contain several articles on interesting subjects—e.g., the industrial development of the Kwang provinces, the spread of Communism, the condition of the native cotton industry, and the Mind of Young China.

GORDON HIGHLANDERS' DRUM

Landed In England By German Sailors

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

London, February 3.

The drum belonging to the Gordon Highlanders which General Sir Ian Hamilton received back from President von Hindenburg a few days ago, was landed at Southampton on Saturday and brought ashore by seven sailors belonging to the "Bremen". The sailors gave the new Hitler salute.

When the drum touched land, General Hamilton turned round and shouted "Deutschland auf widerschén," to which the crew of the "Bremen" answered with vociferous cheers.

Speaking to Press representatives afterwards, General Hamilton said that his visit to Berlin had convinced him that Germany knew its strength and to-day was a nation which was better left in peace than criticised adversely.

"When one sees the people in Germany," said General Hamilton, "one gains the impression that they have made themselves free and have recovered their grip on life."

The drum was sent by special train to Farnborough and thence conveyed by a Company of Gordon Highlanders to Aldershot where it was solemnly handed over to the regiment by the commanding officer.

General Hamilton emphasised that the drum had once sounded the call to war but had now returned as a symbol of peace.

Moscow, February 2.

The claim that the ill-fated Russian stratosphere explorers attained an altitude of 22,000 metres before they were over taken by disaster, is substantiated by scientific investigation made by a committee whose report was published on Friday. Although the gondola itself was crushed flat by the impact with the earth, consequently most of the equipment and scientific instruments shattered, all notes made by the occupants as well as the barograph charts were preserved intact.

The Commission also came to the conclusion that the disaster was not due to the formation of ice since no trace of such was found on the tangled wreckage. The real cause seemed to have been a defect in one of the hawsers in the rigging which by suddenly snapping upset the delicately adjusted equilibrium of the entire giant apparatus, causing the balloon to part from the gondola at a height of 12,000 metres.—Transocean Kuo Min.

BRITISH AIR FORCE

Praised By Air Minister

London, Feb. 2.

Lord Londonderry, the Secretary for Air, returned to England yesterday after his 16,000-miles air tour in the Middle East and India. He arrived at Croydon in the air liner "Hengist."

The light plane in which Lady Londonderry flew to Croydon to meet her husband, made a forced landing at Biggin Hill Aerodrome, but she continued the journey in another plane, arriving shortly after the "Hengist" had landed.

Lord Londonderry expressed great satisfaction at having been able to obtain a first-hand sound knowledge of the air units abroad, and of the high standard of efficiency which was maintained.

He expressed particular appreciation of the work of the Royal Air Force on the Indian Frontier where, in close conjunction with the Army, it assisted in maintaining law and order with a minimum expenditure of life and money.—British Wireless Service.

WARRANT FOR ARREST

Refused By Judge Against Vines

Los Angeles, February 4.

A warrant for the arrest of the tennis players Vines and Tilden was requested from the Superior Court owing to their failure to appear in connection with Vines' alleged omission to pay $3,500 on a judgment for injuries suffered by Frank Bright in collision with Vines' car. The judge refused to issue a warrant, adding it was only issuable if Vines did not appear at the hearing of Bright's charge on April 4. Tilden has been summoned to give evidence with reference to Vines' professional earnings. Vines explained he understood the case was postponed till April as was also judgment against his mother and his brother George.—Reuter.

RESTRICTION OF RUBBER GROWING

Being Considered By Dutch Government

The Hague, February 4.

Schemes for rubber restriction are being considered by the Dutch Government and it is possible it will reach a decision shortly. It is stated that Herr Collin, Colonial Minister in the Lower Chamber added that any measures must be of interest to native planters as well as to European rubber companies.—Reuter.

GERMAN AIR MAIL SERVICE

To Argentina Every Fortnight

Berlin, February 4.

A new fast fortnightly air-mail service from Germany to Brazil and Argentina started to-day, when Germany's fastest commercial plane left Stuttgart with four hundred pounds of mail for Seville from whence it will be conveyed by other machines to Las Palmas and Bathurst then by seaplane over the Southern Atlantic via the German floating island station of West Phalen.—Reuter.

WEEKLY TREASURY ISSUE

London, Feb. 2.

Tenders for £40,000,000 Treasury bills the total amount applied for was £71,985,000.

The amount allotted in bills at three months was £24,135,000.

The average rate per cent. was 17/11/4 as compared with 18/1/4 last week.—British Wireless Service.

CHINESE NEW YEAR

Trade Loan for Canton Merchants

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, February 4.

Merchants who are in need of money to pass through the Chinese New Year may apply to-day to the City Chamber of Commerce for Trade Loan Certificates which will be accepted as a sort of legal tender, provided the applicants are able to furnish security based on the stock of their goods.

The Kwangtung Provincial Government has allowed the City Chamber of Commerce to issue $3,000,000 of these Trade Loan Certificates, although the original petition was for $7,000,000. The certificates are in $200 denomination up to the value of $2,000,000, and those of $300 denomination are issued up to $1,000,000.

Prospective borrowers have to file particulars as to their property in real estate or stock of goods in their stores, which will be used as security of the loans. All such property or goods pledged for the loan must be properly insured, and the amount insured must also be stated in the applications.

There is financial stringency in commercial quarters here owing to dull business and the banknote crisis. In consequence, applications for the Trade Loan Certificates will be numerous. Since the loan is for the benefit of merchants, no interest is stipulated for the grant of Trade Loan Certificates to successful applicants.

In allowing the issue of this paper money, the Government is imputed by the fact that business men need not seek loans elsewhere and pay exorbitant interest.

NOVEL STRIKE METHODS

Miners Refuse To Leave Pits

Prague, Feb. 2.

Spartan methods were adopted by miners on strike in the pits near Most, North Bohemia, to enforce a demand for "higher wages."

Three hundred men remained underground for over 96 hours and refused to ascend to the surface or to touch the food sent down.

They declared that they preferred to die rather than abandon their demands. Some of the men were suffering from hunger convulsions.

The negotiation for a settlement in regard to wages, mine regulations and other disputed matters continue.

The strike extends to 500 men, though other miners are affected. The miners eventually abandoned their hunger-strike and left the pits, but the strike continues.—Reuter.

LITHUANIA SEEKS TRADE PACT

London, Feb. 2.

Colonel Colville, on behalf of the President of the Board of Trade, yesterday received a delegation appointed by the Lithuanian Government for the purpose of negotiating a new trade agreement between Lithuania and the United Kingdom.

An exchange of views took place and arrangements were made for the discussions to be continued.—British Wireless Service.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S PREMIER

Mr. F. C. Alderdice Leaves London

London, Feb. 2.

The Prime Minister of Newfoundland, Mr. F. C. Alderdice, left London yesterday on his return to Newfoundland.

The British Prime Minister, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, and Mr. J. H. Thomas, Secretary for the Dominions, together with Sir Edgar Bowring, High Commissioner for Newfoundland in London and Officials of the Dominions Office were present at his departure from Euston Station.—British Wireless Service.

Washington, Feb. 2.

President Roosevelt, in conference, has reached a preliminary agreement on sugar control policy,

WILL NOT GIVE UP ISLANDS

Statement By Hirota

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

London, February 2.

An interview granted to the Daily Express correspondent at Tokyo and published here on Friday says, the Japanese Foreign Minister Hirota, declared that under no circumstances would the German islands in the Pacific for which Japan holds the League of Nations' Mandate be given back to the League of Nations.

Hirota claimed that the Allies promised the territory to Japan by secret treaty signed during the World War, and the ultimate cession made in Mandate form was merely owing to circumstances set up by the opposition of President Wilson. That means, concluded the Japanese Minister, that the right to control the tactically important naval bases is founded on what might be considered a permanent mandate which in no way is dependent on the League of Nations.—Transocean Kuo Min.

SIR P. CUNLIFFE-LISTER

Definite Improvement In Condition

London, Feb. 2.

A telegram from the Governor of Kenya states that the condition of Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, Secretary for the Colonies, has definitely improved.—British Wireless Service.

BRITISH CRUISERS TO VISIT MELBOURNE

London, Feb. 2.

The United Kingdom Government have accepted the invitation of the Australian Government to send cruisers to Melbourne for the forthcoming centenary celebrations, and have welcomed the proposal that the system of exchange of ships with the Royal Australian Navy should at the same time be resumed.

H.M.S. Sussex has been selected for this duty. H.R.H. Prince George will proceed to Australia aboard her.—British Wireless Service.

KALGOORLIE RIOTS SETTLED

Kalgoorlie, Feb. 3.

The trouble between the Australian miners and foreigners at Kalgoorlie and Boulder City, which resulted in the loss of two lives on Wednesday, has been settled.

An agreement between the miners and the Chamber of Mines has been reached, by which the miners agree to accept the Chamber's offer of a resumption of work on Monday and a promise that no unnaturalised foreigners will be employed.—Reuter.

ASSASSINATION OF INUKAI

Tokyo, Feb. 3.

Sentences were delivered to-day on the 20 civilians concerned in the outrages of May 15, 1932, which culminated in the assassination of Premier Inukai.

Tachibana received life imprisonment; Okawa, 15 years imprisonment; Toyama, eight years; Kawaski 12 years and Homma, 10 years.

The other prisoners received sentences ranging from 15 to 34 years.—Reuter.

DR. W. W. YEN IN SHANGHAI

Shanghai, Feb. 3.

Dr. W. W. Yen, the Chinese Ambassador to Moscow, arrived here at 5 p.m. and is going to Nanking to-morrow or Monday.

He said that he was on no special mission and denied that he was being appointed Foreign Minister.—Reuter's Pacific Service.

BRITISH AEROPLANES PREFERRED

London, Feb. 2.

After a careful test of several Continental types of air liners, the Yugoslavia Air Transport Company Aeroput has placed a repeat order for a British three-engined transport, a Spartan cruiser monoplane, and has also acquired a license to build these machines in Yugoslavia.—British Wireless Service.

SUGAR-CANE JUNK

Sudden Squall Sinks It

According to a Canton report, it appears that early on Saturday morning "Wang Lee," a large sugar-junk, loaded with a big quantity of sugar-cane at "Ap Wo" of the Chung Shan District, set sail for Hong Kong, but while she was sailing near the "Pan Sah Mei" of the Chinese Territory, a sudden squall arose and blew straight towards the junk, causing her to capsize and sink.

Seeing this accident, two other cargo junks, which accompanied her, immediately assisted in the rescue, but on account of the rapid current, only the coxswain and two men were saved. The coxswain's son and daughter and a foki were carried away by the strong currents and drowned.

It is reported that the total loss of the junk was about $3,000.

SHIP DEMAND INCREASING

American Viewpoint

In his speech at the annual meeting of the Sheaf Steam Shipping Co. in Newcastle, England, recently, W. A. Souter, chairman of the company, said that in spite of restrictions on trade caused by exchange difficulties, tariffs and operation of quotas there was evidence that the world trade was recovering and that the demand for ships was increasing. Progress could not be anything but slow, because of the great mass of tonnage laid up. Referring to tramp tonnage, Mr. Souter said that British tramp shipping had fallen by one-half since 1914 and now stood at under 5,000,000 gross tons. On the other hand, foreign tramp tonnage had increased by 33 per cent. There were two main causes for this discrepancy: first, the competition of foreign subsidized tonnage and, second, the competition of countries where wages and food scales were far below the British standard.
